DEDICATION

Nathan J. Stone

London, England was the place where Mr. Nathan J. Stone was born and spent the early years of his life. Canada then became his home for the next ten years before he came to the United States.

Mr. Stone was the first graduate of the Jewish Missions Course at the Moody Bible Institute in 1925. Westminster College presented him with his bachelor of arts degree, and Presbyterian Theological Seminary awarded him his bachelor of divinity degree, and master of theology degree.

As a Presbyterian minister, he served for some years at a church in Missouri and then became a city missionary for the Presbytery of Detroit. In 1940 Mr. Stone became an Institute faculty member of the Jewish Missions Course.

Now, after 25 years at the Institute, Mr. Stone wears a gold service pin. Along with his teaching duties Mr. Stone is the recording secretary-treasurer of the Hebrew Christian Alliance of America. Other Jewish mission organizations proudly claim him as a member and officer.

Due to his great interest in faculty volleyball games Mr. Stone has long had them as part of his agenda. For many years he was a player and then a referee.

Mr. Stone is greatly loved and respected by both colleagues and students as a wise counselor with a deep knowledge of the Word of God and a close walk with the Lord.

To you, Mr. Nathan J. Stone, we dedicate this 1965 ARCH.

A successful life
A cluster of goals
Reaching to an end
Varied in individuals
Here united
For God's purpose . . .

"... but one thing I do,
Forgetting the things which are behind,
And stretching forward
To the things which are before,
I press on toward the goal
Unto the prize of the high calling
Of God
In Christ Jesus."
Philippians 3:13-14

Familiarity and bewilderment arise from an environment which is to some familiar, to others new.

Education here means careful preparation, prayer, praise and relating to others.

While friendships are formed, learning grows, sparked by a professor, developed in practice, matured with reflection, and demonstrated by presentation.

Thoughts come into focus during quiet moments of meditation and discussion in the heart of a city filled with hidden beauty.

ACADEMICS

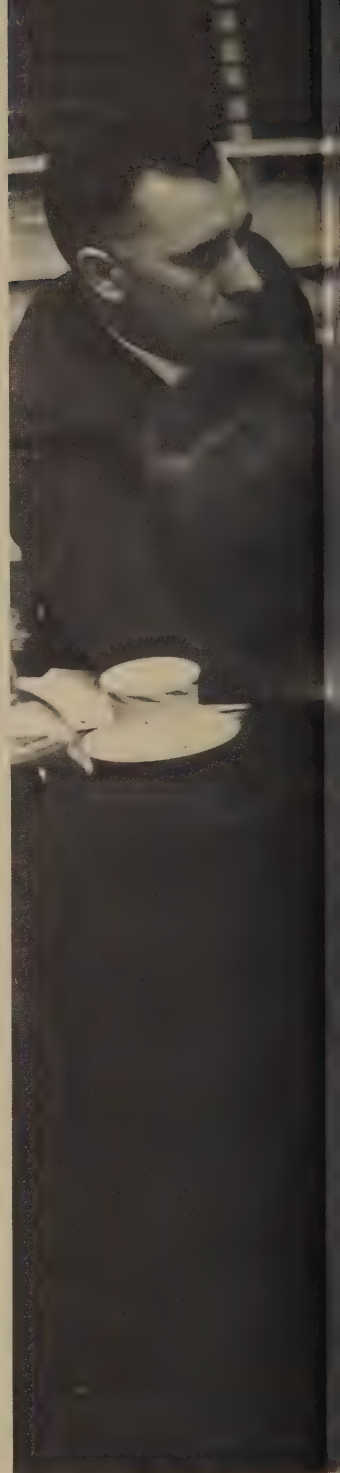

In an effort to life an objective from the realm of the theoretical, the Moody Bible Institute strives to fulfill its purpose: "the education and training of Christian workers, teachers, ministers, missionaries, and musicians who may competently and effectually proclaim the gospel of Jesus Christ." Each area of academic communication is geared towards fulfilling this purpose.

The educational process begins with the subject matter. Every student at Moody is primarily a student of the Bible. Practical application in the use of God's Word is offered in eight specialized courses. Through such classes as Comparative Religions, Church Polity, and Jewish Religious Thought, students are taught the urgent relevancy and application of age-old truths to a modern world.

Subject matter is given personality by the vehicle of communication, the teacher. Beginning in the formal atmosphere of the classroom, education is continued in a private conference on the third floor of Fitzwater Hall. Impromptu stimulation is culminated by the theological discussion in the Sweet Shop between teacher and student. In the course of three years, the faculty loses its oneness in the eyes of the student. He no longer sees a nameless group, but individual personalities. Some have become to him casual acquaintances, while others have made themselves friends, trusted counselors, doorkeepers to the world of education.

Academic life at the Institute includes the memorization of vocabulary lists, the spiritual application from God's Word by a Bible teacher, the intellectual stimulation of a theology course. It is discussion, argument, study, meditation. It is a beginning on the long road of knowing one's self and, more important, of knowing one's God.

ACADEMICS

Bishop William Culbertson, D.D., LL.D. came to the Moody Bible Institute as dean of education in 1948. Dr. Culbertson became president of the school after the death of Dr. Will H. Houghton.

Born in May of 1905, Dr. Culbertson received his higher education at Temple University and the Reformed Episcopal Seminary in Philadelphia. His doctor of divinity degree is from Bob Jones University. Between 1927 and 1942, Dr. Culbertson served as rector in three Reformed Episcopal churches. 29 years ago, he was honored by the Reformed Episcopal Church by being made a bishop of the New York and Philadelphia synod, a position which he still retains.

As President of the Institute, Dr. Culbertson travels extensively, speaking in churches, schools, Bible conferences, and other types of meetings. He appears in two films, The Stones Cry Out and The Quest, which were filmed on a trip to the Near East. He has written the book, God's Provision for Holy Living, and is also the editor-in-chief of the MOODY MONTHLY magazine.

When by the grace of God you became a child of God, Christ laid hold upon you. But He did not simply claim you as His own, He laid hold upon you for a purpose. Says the apostle: "I press on, if so be that I may lay hold on that for which also I was laid hold on by Christ Jesus" (Phil. 3:12).

Surely one of the purposes of our Lord in saving us is to conform us to His own image (cf. Rom. 8:29). Thank God, He will not quit until He gets it done. Familiar as we are with the Word of God, we know that in all its fulness, this objective awaits the consummation—the return of our Lord. It is when we see Him that we shall be like Him (I John 3:1-3). But does this fact mean that we should in the meantime content ourselves with carnality? God forbid. Spiritual maturity is not only a goal, it can be a possible present experience (I Cor. 2:15; Phil. 3:15).

The Word of God also says: "I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 3:14). Surrender, faith, and obedience to the Word of God are the ingredients God uses to bring us into the experience of spiritual maturity. But even there, there is more! There is the goal! Thus we should never settle down in complacency. It is always "more and more" (I Thess. 4:1). May God so lead you on in spiritual growth, in empowered service and in blessed usefulness until the Lord come. God bless you.

DR. S. MAXWELL CODER, Dean of Education

DEAN OF EDUCATION

Supervision of the Educational Branch of the Institute lies in the hands of Dr. S. Maxwell Coder, Dean of Education. He is in charge both of the academic area, and the division of student affairs. This includes the offices of the Deans of Men and Women, the Health Service, and the Student Placement Office.

In addition, Dr. Coder works with Dr. Culbertson on the five member cabinet. This presidential advisory board meets once a week and discusses problems such as new buildings, the radio network, and Moody Press.

Dr. Coder is responsible for submitting and adjusting the budgets for the educational branch. An annual report is produced on all areas under his jurisdiction.

Alumni affairs require Dr. Coder to do quite a bit of traveling throughout the year, speaking at many Bible conferences across the country. The responsibilities of this office demand dedicated leadership.

DR. ALFRED MARTIN, Dean of Faculty

DEAN OF FACULTY

Dr. Alfred Martin has completed his sixth year as Dean of Faculty. His time was filled with the administrative details of the faculty and counseling members of the teaching staff in areas of self-improvement. In recruiting members of the faculty, Dr. Martin sought to upgrade academic requirements.

This year for the first time, the Dean of Faculty's office has provided the faculty with the Faculty Handbook which will be issued on a regular basis.

The Curriculum Committee, headed by Dr. Martin, incorporated a Missionary Literature major in the Missionary Course. This new major will begin in the fall of 1965.

Dr. Martin taught Bible courses this year both in the Day and Evening Schools. He also completed a "Study of Christian Stewardship" which was recently published in the Moody Manna series. In collaboration with his wife, Dr. Martin wrote the third in a doctrinal series, "Learning From God." This course, originally written for juniors, has now been adapted for adults.

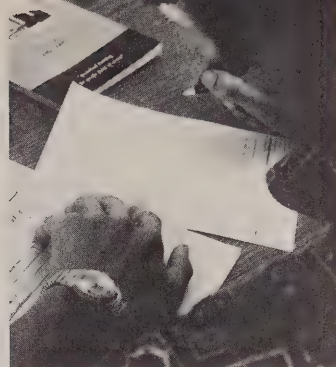

ADMISSIONS AND REGISTRATION

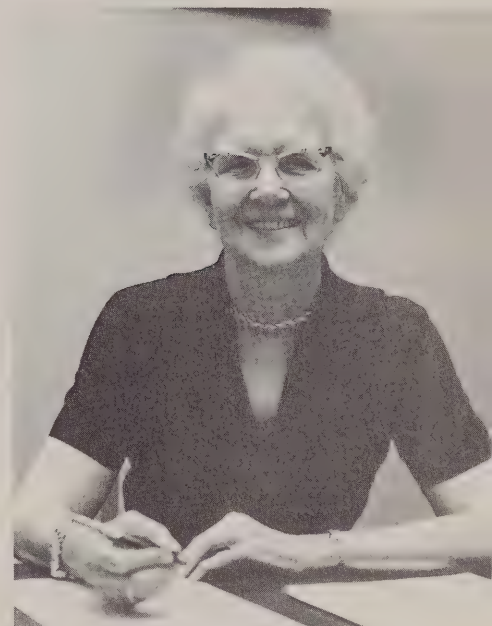

Mr. Roy Shervy assumed the responsibility of Registrar and Director of Admissions this year. Mr. Shervy, a graduate of the Institute, came to Moody last year as Assistant Director of Admissions and Registration. His departmental duties include processing and accepting applications for the Day School, academic counseling and adjustment of schedules, registering Day and Evening School students, and insuring academic requirements for graduation.

Working with Mr. Shervy is his staff: Miss Alice E. Heck, Assistant to the Registrar; Miss Vivian Martin, Assistant to the Director of Admissions; and Miss Alice M. Everard, Assistant to the Registrar.

Both students and staff agreed that registration day was one of the smoothest in history because of the management of Mr. Shervy and the more effective use of IBM.

Progress demands new ideas and changes. Realizing this, the Institute has set a high standard for its faculty. The minimum academic requirement is a master's degree. Of the forty-six members of the faculty, ten have doctor's degrees, three of which are honorary. Five others are now working on this degree and will receive it in the near future.

Three new men have been received as full-time instructors this year: Mr. John Innes in the Department of Sacred Music; Mr. Ronald Royce in the Missionary Technical Department; and Dr. Alan Johnson in the Department of Bible. Several part-time teachers have also become full-time staff members. The teaching staff consists of forty-six members of the faculty, twelve technical instructors, and twenty special instructors, totaling seventy-eight.

The importance of good education in Christian service is evident; however it is not the intention of Moody Bible Institute to raise the academic level at the expense of the spiritual standard. It is the combination of both which trains students to be approved both of God and of men.

TECHNICAL INSTRUCTORS

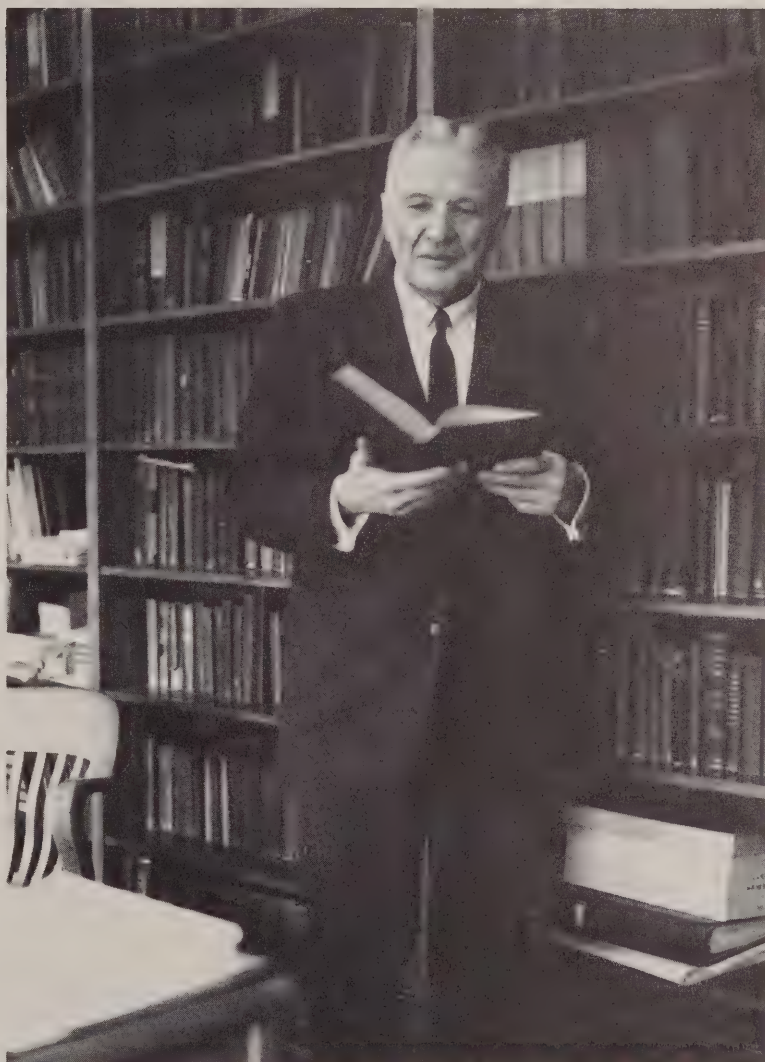

Counselor to All DEAN OF STUDENTS

Mr. A. Franklin Broman has completed twenty-seven years as Dean of Men. In September, 1964, Mr. Broman was appointed Dean of Students. The Department of Dean of Students was formed as a result of the merger of the Departments of Dean of Men and Dean of Women. Mr. Broman was made director of this new department, while retaining his position as Dean of Men. Mr. Broman is responsible for the total counseling program of all students as directed by the offices of the Dean of Men and Women. Ultimate decisions in most guidance matters are made by him. He is also responsible for the devotional programs of the department and the Tuesday morning assemblies.

As a member of the faculty Mr. Broman has taught many subjects in the past years and has served on various faculty committees. He has most recently taught counseling in Evening School.

Mr. Broman has just completed a term as president of the Association of Christian Deans of Men. He has been listed in WHO'S WHO IN ILLINOIS, WHO'S WHO IN THE MIDWEST, and TRUSTEES, PRESIDENTS, AND DEANS OF AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.

MR. A. FRANKLIN BROMAN, Dean of Students

Christian reality in the experience of life is emphasized by Dean Broman.

DEAN OF MEN

Serving as head of the Dean of Men's Department as well as Dean of Students, Mr. A. F. Broman plans to retire in 1965 after fifty years of service at Moody Bible Institute. Mr. Richard Mohline, presently an assistant dean, will assume the responsibilities of head of the department next year. Other assistant deans are Mr. James Adams and Mr. David Mortensen.

The Dean of Men's Department serves primarily as a counseling service to the men students, offering advice and counsel in every area of life. They recognize that counseling consists not necessarily of solving the student's problems, but rather of seeking to stimulate and equip the student to successfully meet life's challenges.

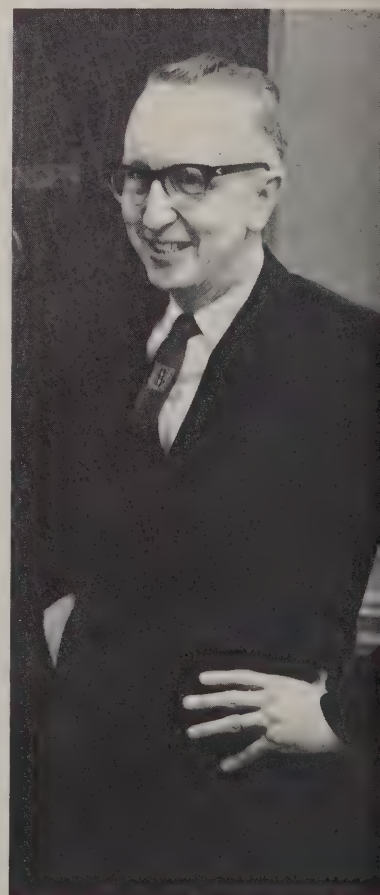

New students are acquainted with college life through orientation classes conducted by the deans. In addition to these classes, the deans seek to help the entire student body through assemblies as well as private and group counseling.

RICHARD MOHLINE, Assistant

JAMES ADAMS, Assistant

DAVID MORTENSEN, Assistant

LENELLE BALLBACH, Dean of Women

DEAN OF WOMEN

Working as a team under the Dean of Students, the three Deans of Women have sought to serve their "daughters" during their first year at Moody.

Mrs. Lenelle Ballbach was the Dean of Women, with two assistants working with her. She has had to work as a counseling dean in the absence of the third assistant this year. After graduation from Wheaton College with a major in Christian Education, Mrs. Ballbach became the Chicago director of Child Evangelism Fellowship doing pioneer club work. She married John M. Ballbach and became a minister's wife. After her husband's death in 1958, she taught elementary school and did graduate work for a master's degree at the University of Delaware.

Miss Kay Frederick came to Moody after a career as a teacher in Kenya, Africa with the Africa Inland Mission. A native of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, she received bachelor of arts and bachelor of Theology degrees from Barrington College. While en route to America for her first furlough, she contracted typhoid fever and was sent to Chicago for treatment. After her recovery, the Lord led her to her position here.

Miss Mary Waldo worked as director of Alumni Placement for the Institute before assuming her new position. Born in Kalamazoo, Michigan, she graduated from Moody and studied at the Baptist Bible Institute in Grand Rapids and at Western Michigan Reserve University. After graduation from Moody, Miss Waldo became national camp director and field representative of Pioneer Girls.

KAY FREDERICK, Assistant

MARY WALDO, Assistant

The 24-booth language laboratory is a valuable supplement to the study of foreign languages.

AUDIO VISUALS

Appealing to the ear and eye, the equipment in the Audiovisual Center is an important tool in teaching. The center consists of equipment such as a 24-booth language laboratory, opaque, overhead, and 16mm projectors, tape recorders, record players, and a closed-circuit television system used in speech, practice teaching, and preaching. "Contemporary Composition," a twenty-four lesson course for use with the overhead projector, was one of the new additions to this collection of teaching aids.

Mr. Wayne Buchanan, the Director of Audio-Visuals, designed many of the modern features of Fitzwater Hall, which houses the Audiovisual Center. The Director of the First National Audiovisual Panorama introduced Mr. Buchanan by saying, "Mr. Buchanan brings a wealth of experience and knowledge gained as supervisor of the most complete audiovisual teaching facility available to the religious world."

Faculty and students generally agree that this center balloons the interest in teaching and learning.

STUDENT PLACEMENT

MR. A. ROYAL HANSON, Director

Student Placement offers employment for many students at the Institute. Its promotion has made possible the employment of nearly eighty-five percent of the student body both on and off campus. Main sources of employment include office, factory, and janitor work.

Mr. A. Royal Hanson, Director, and Mrs. Marion Humphrey, Assistant Director head up Student Placement. Contacts are made with employers by phone, letter, and visit to maintain best possible relations. An employer record file helps the director to work more closely with the nearly 200 employers. The department seeks to work closely with students on all employment matters including hours, wages, and working conditions.

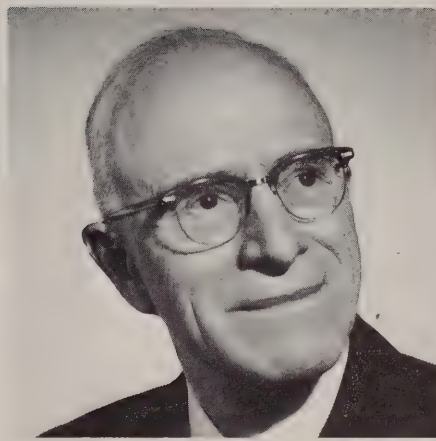

It is impressed upon each student worker to maintain his testimony as he ventures into the business world.

DR. ELGIN MOYER, Librarian

LIBRARY

59,188 volumes—these filled the shelves of the library stack room during 1964-65. In the past year 2,885 books were added, more than have ever been added in one year. Donations accounted for about half of these books, while the other half were purchased. Donations were responsible for over half of the 385 periodicals received. The rest were obtained by subscription or by exchange with Moody Monthly.

The microfilm reader was used for the second year with a small microfilm library. The class of 1964 provided a gift for the purchase of new microfilms for use in various departments.

An increase in circulation during the last school year from 29,979 to 35,723 reflected the students' attempt to fulfill the Scriptural injunction to "add to your . . . virtue knowledge." Instructors gave an added incentive to this quest for knowledge with reading and research assignments.

Practical Christian Work assignments provided an opportunity for the use of the flannelgraphs, backgrounds, flashcards, and pictures made available through the library.

Open stacks in the MBI library mean opportunities to browse at one's leisure.

'Doctrine, Reproof, Correction, Instruction'

GENERAL BIBLE

Among the specialized courses of study offered at The Moody Bible Institute is the General Bible Course. As a course it is the newest to be integrated into the school's curriculum, and yet it is the oldest.

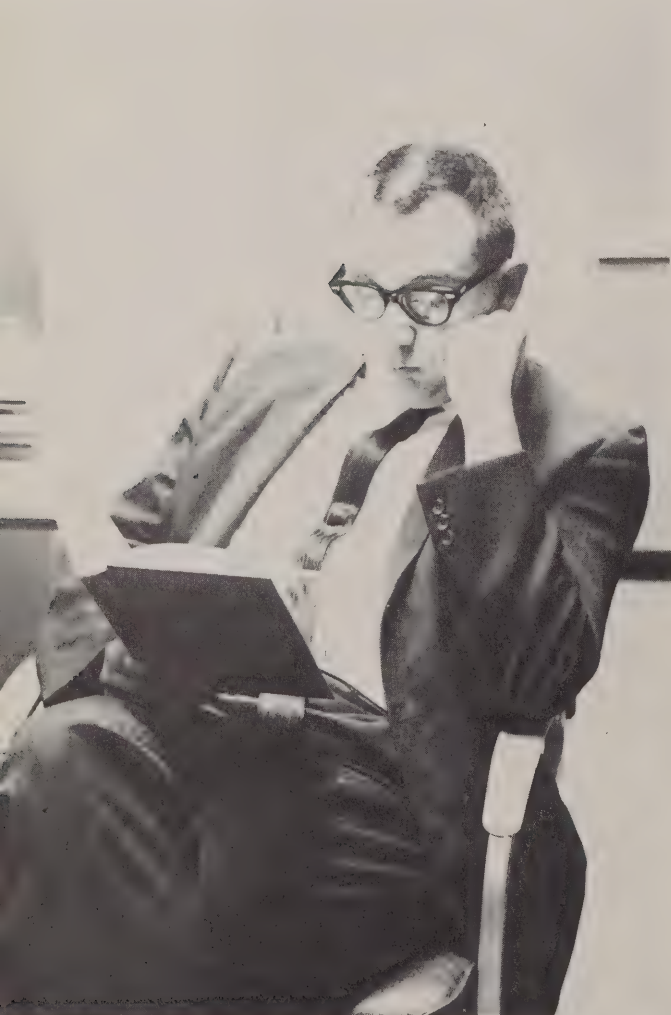

When MBI first opened as a formal institution, it offered a course of study primarily set up for the layman who desired an increased knowledge and practical use of the Scriptures. As the Institute developed so did the courses of instruction. Today the General Bible Course contains traces of the original course of study, but as a course in itself it is the newest phase of the curriculum.

The course is designed for those who do not wish to enroll in the other specialized courses and want more concentrated study in the Bible. There is a total of forty hours of Bible and theology. It contains more electives than any other course, thus giving the student an opportunity to take advantage of other fields of study offered at the Institute.

Shepherds of the Future

PASTORS

Preparing for effective service, students in the Pastors Course are given a concentrated pastoral training.

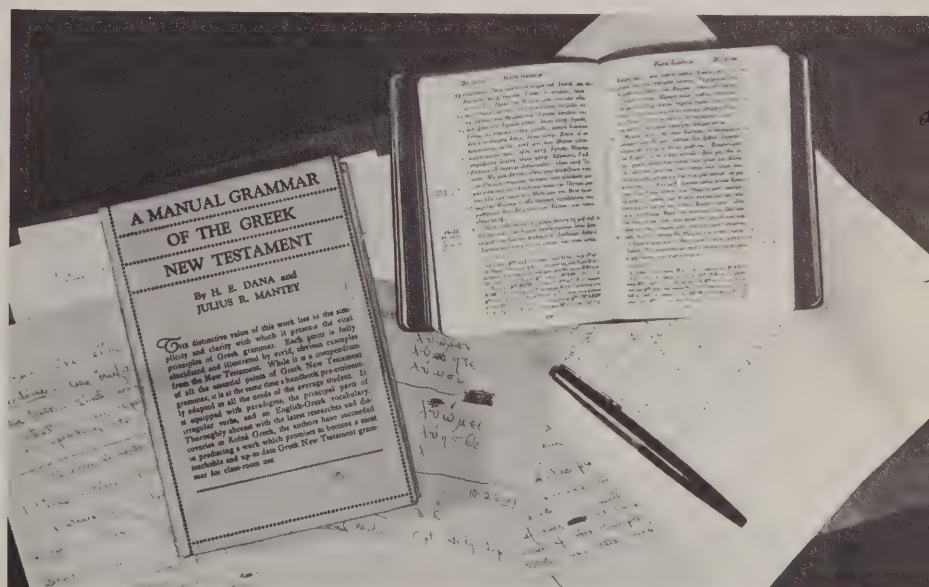

New Testament Greek and theology are studied by the student in the Pastors Course. Effective communication of the Word is one of his goals in courses in speech and homiletics, where he learns from books and actual experience. He can select a balanced church program through his study in introductory courses in music, missions, Christian education, and personal evangelism. Completing his foundation, the student further grounds himself with supplementary courses in English, apologetics, church history, Bible introduction, and philosophy.

Students are encouraged to put into practice this training by accepting student pastorates and assistant pastorates during periods of study as well as summer vacation months.

Upon graduation from this course, the student usually finds it profitable to supplement his training at Moody with a liberal arts and seminary education. Others, however, immediately accept pastorates.

Through much patience and concentration, progress is made in Greek.

The language laboratory affords the opportunity to practice a foreign language.

Worldwide Service MISSIONARY

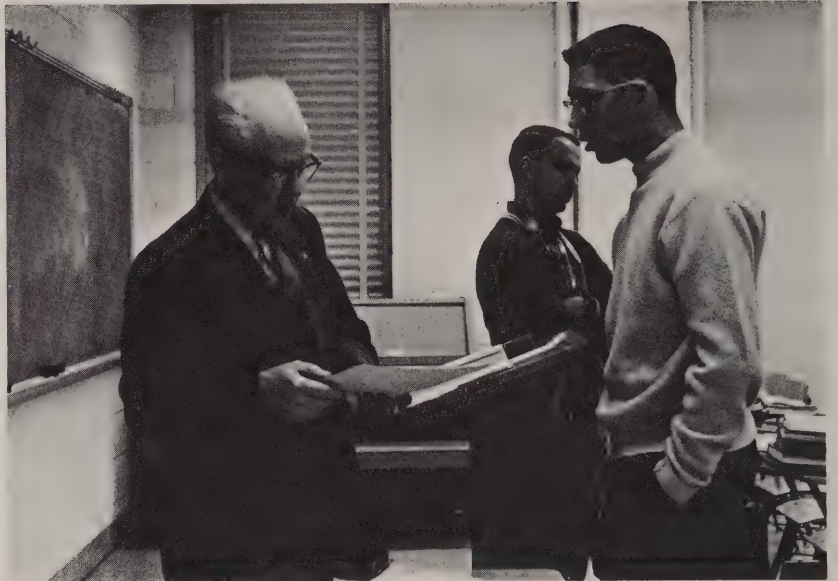

"For so hath the Lord commanded us saying, I have set thee to be a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be for salvation unto the ends of the earth." (Acts 13:47) The Moody Bible Institute strives to meet the need of this verse through the Missionary Course by offering majors in Bible, Christian Education, Biblical Language, and Modern Language.

By using the language laboratory and the library facilities, the missionary major is able to learn by experience and research the fundamentals necessary to equip him for his chosen field of service. To provide him with "on the field" experience, a minimum of six weeks of practical Christian work under capable Christian supervision is required. To meet this requirement, students have engaged in literature distribution in Mexico and Peru, work in local churches as assistant pastors, work in Child Evangelism clubs and Vacation Bible School programs, and work on the home and foreign fields assisting missionaries.

Senior missionary students study techniques of the field.

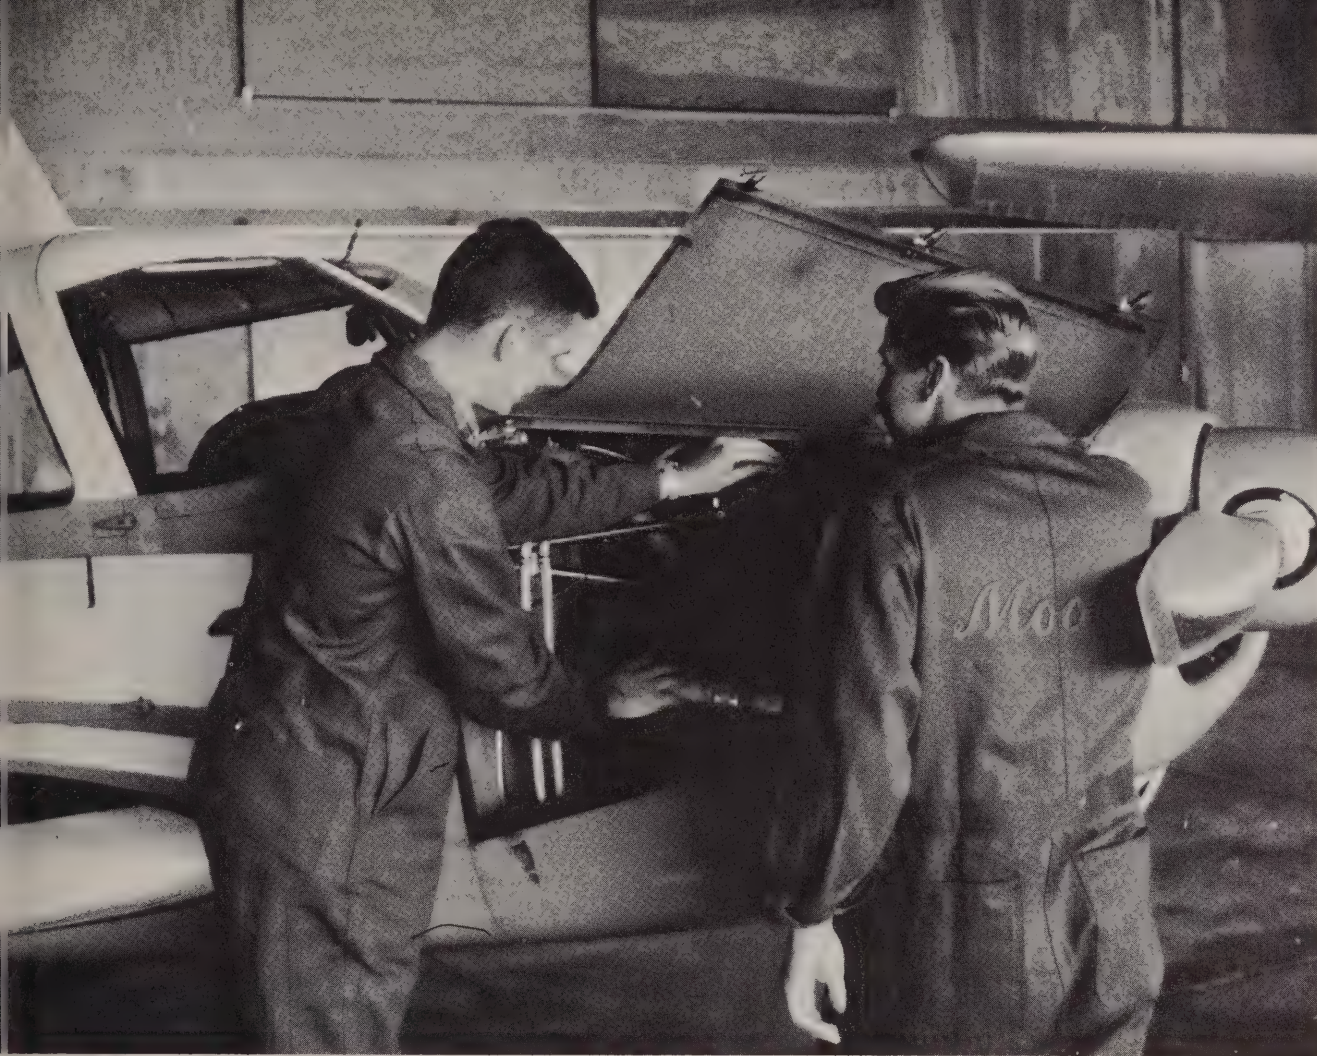

Mr. Cook replies to an after-class question.

From these halls have come ten per cent of all Protestant missionaries on the field today.

Maintenance on Moody aircraft is done by those in flight training.

Placing its emphasis on quality rather than quantity, the Technical Department accommodates comparatively few students. The department is divided into two main branches: radio and aviation. Actual technical training in each branch is preceded by a time during which Bible and the other basics are studied. This preparatory period involves two years in the case of pre-aviation and one year for pre-radio.

Both courses require four years for completion. Aviation students spend their last two years at Moody Wooddale Airport, about twenty miles west of the downtown campus. Radio students, however, have the fourth floor of Fitzwater Hall as their center of activities for the whole four year period. There they have access to modern laboratory facilities complete with AM and FM transmitters, control room, and recording equipment as well as equipment for radio repair.

This year the airport experienced additions to both its staff and its fleet of airplanes. Mr. Ronald Royce, a recent graduate of the Technical Department, was added to the instructional staff. A Piper Apache, Moody's first twin-engine aircraft, boosted the fleet to 14 planes.

JEWISH MISSIONS

As in any missionary curriculum, the objective of the Jewish Missions Course is to acquaint its students with the customs, attitudes, and problems of the people it seeks to win. The areas of study which are offered include: Hebrew, Messianic prophecy, Jewish history, Jewish religion and evangelism, and a new course in the development of Jewish religious thought. Other Bible-related subjects, such as systematic theology and apologetics, are also required. In addition to classroom study, there are countless opportunities for practical Christian work with Jewish people in the Chicago area. Students in this course are required to spend six weeks in summer home mission work to better prepare them for their future fields of service.

Alumni of the Jewish Missions Course are now in Israel, Morocco, Argentina, Brazil, the United States, and other countries, serving the Lord among His chosen people.

Mastery of the Hebrew Scripture is necessary to reach the Jews.

Serving Through Teaching

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

"To build the mind of Christ into the hearts of men, teaching them to dwell in harmony with the will of God" is the challenge facing the Christian Education Department at Moody Bible Institute. Its instructors attempt to carry out this responsibility in the preparation of young men and women for vocational service as directors of the educational programs of the church.

Not only is Christian Education used in youth programming in evangelical churches, but its ministry is aimed to organize leadership in all age-groups wherever Christian service is needed. Future school teachers, journalists, home and foreign missionaries may all benefit from the classes and projects such as files and notebooks.

In preparation for service, students study the field of Christian Education as a whole. Specialization is attempted by closed circuit television, recordings, and audiovisual materials. Two weeks during the summer are spent in putting this practical teaching to work in Vacation Bible Schools all over the nation.

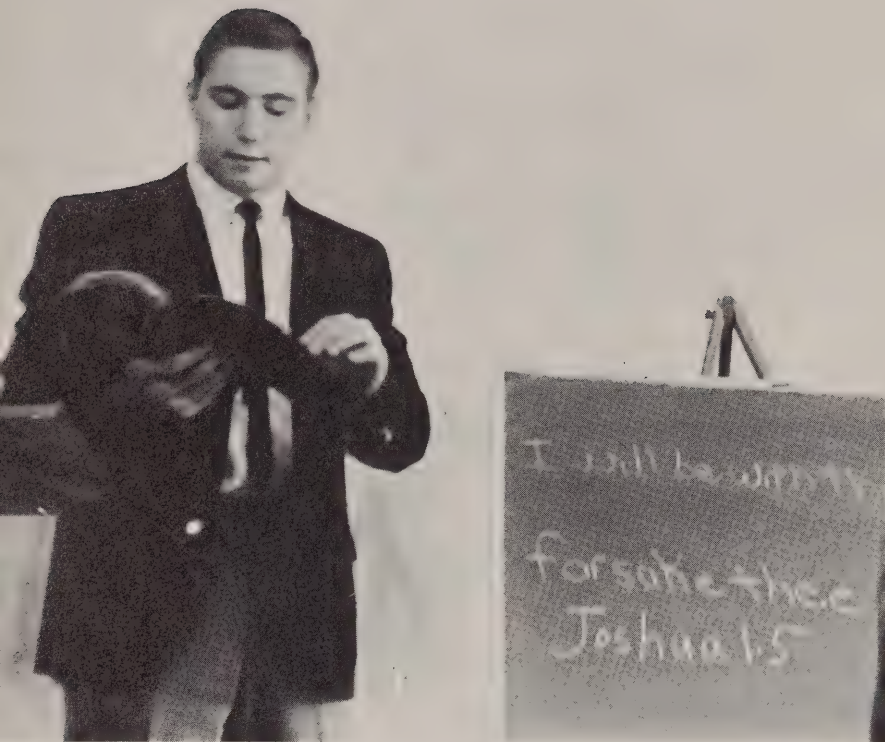

Majoring in Varied Fields

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION MUSIC

Christian Education-Music is a course designed to train men and women who are planning to serve in the dual capacity of Director of Christian Education and Minister of Music. This is a course which seeks to adequately prepare students for the type of work they plan to do in these two areas of Christian service.

In addition to a variety of music and Christian education subjects, the student must take basic Bible courses. Such subjects as music theory, music literature, church music, Christian education of children, practice teaching, and administrative work are counted toward the one-hundred and twenty credits required for graduation.

This course is unique in that it cannot be represented by any one particular subject; rather, it is the combination of subjects which make up the Christian Education-Music Course.

Melodious Ministry

SACRED MUSIC

Giving forth the message of the Gospel through the media of song is the challenge of the students in the Sacred Music Course. Those enrolled in this course are instructed in theoretical and practical techniques of good music. Their study includes secular, classic, and contemporary, as well as sacred music.

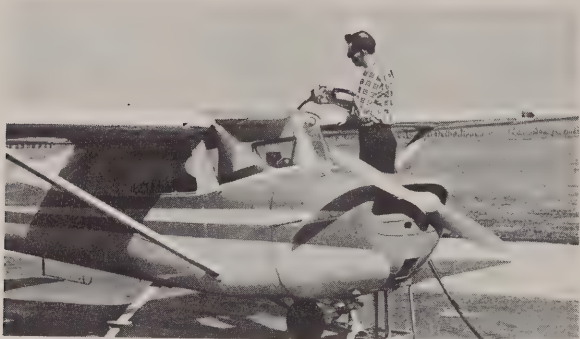

Long hours in the practice room, concentration in the classroom, and instruction received in the studio make up the training of the music student. For the music major the highlight of his study comes in the performance of his senior recital, usually given during his final semester.

Emphases offered in the Sacred Music Course are voice, piano, organ, orchestral instruments, composition, and church music.

High-Flying Sky Pilots

AVIATION

Flight training for the aviation student begins during the middle of June following his second year at the Institute. No more than twenty-four students are accepted for the first week of the summer training program. At the end of the week, after careful examination and evaluation, a maximum of twelve students are chosen to remain for further studies. These few, then, launch immediately into concentrated preparation for missionary aviation.

During the first summer at the airport, most of their time is spent in flight instruction and classes in related subjects. The third year of training is spent in studying mechanics. Classwork is supplemented by practical aircraft maintenance and repair in well-equipped shops located at the airport. Advanced flight and specialized techniques are studied during the fourth year.

THE STUDENTS

Strengthened to Serve

SENIORS

BOB WRIGHT, Vice-President

June Graduation concluded three years of academic life for the class of 1965. Orientation, new friends, and new experiences illuminated their first year. Back for a second year, class unity grew more and more as many members entered into the planning and presenting of "For Such A Time As This." The pomp, magic, and message of that Junior-Senior Banquet night can never be forgotten. Graduation that year meant more than before as they realized that their's would be the next class to take part in these exercises.

Fall of their last year arrived and with it came Senior Retreat. A new experience for everyone, they had an opportunity to enjoy each other as classmates in an atmosphere different from hasty, hurried, hustling campus life. Back from retreat they took part in such school activities as State Night, the Messiah, Candlelight Carols, Sports Night, and Talent Night for the last time. One Day Retreat in the spring was the last informal class gathering. Class Day exercises and Graduation followed in quick succession.

With three years completed the Class of 1965 has passed through the Arch for the last time.

'More Than Conquerors'

Being in the context of His creation makes exercise more enjoyable.

After three years of anticipation, Senior Retreat becomes a reality.

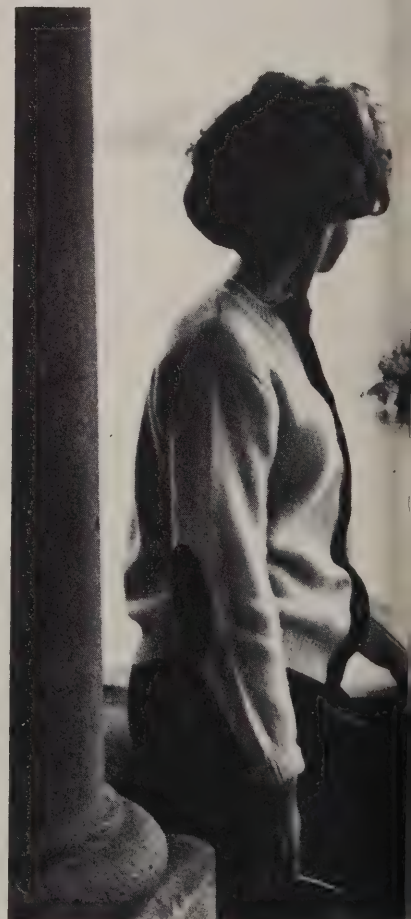

145 seniors boarded the Greyhound buses in late September for the trek to Green Lake, Wisconsin. Folk singing and laughter echoed throughout the buses. Senior Retreat had begun.

That evening the speaker, Dr. Merrill Tenney, Dean of the Wheaton College Graduate School, presented the first in a series of four messages. Centered around Romans eight, they were designed to accentuate the retreat theme: "We are more than conquerors through Him who loved us."

Thursday dawned with a variety of activities: bike hikes, horse-riding, ping-pong, golf, football, volleyball, and tennis. That evening consisted of a stunt night program, the ensemble concert and another of Dr. Tenney's messages.

Friday, the day to return to the Institute, was the final opportunity to absorb the atmosphere of Green Lake. Late in the afternoon the seniors bade farewell to the water, grass, and trees of Green Lake. Arriving at the Institute, they were greeted by the cheers of the freshmen and juniors in Institute Place. A homecoming party in Campus Corner capped the Senior Retreat of 1965.

With Heaven's Harmony

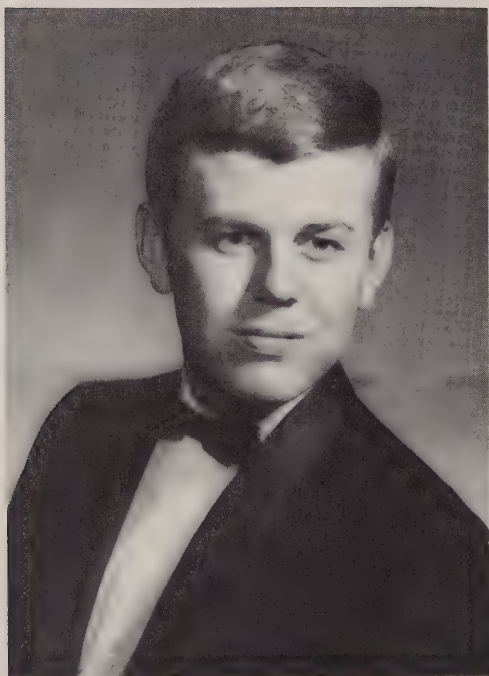

Three years of study and practice found its culmination in the senior recitals. Each senior enrolled in the Sacred Music Course performed in his respective major, giving a concert with another student, usually of another major.

Included in the repertoires were many of the works of the masters of former centuries, art songs in foreign languages and English, and some contemporary selections. The use of sacred selections provided a method of using the talents to bring honor to God in a direct way.

In this formal occasion, the students demonstrated their mastery of techniques, agility, and skill of interpretation, the reward of years of diligence.

Mr. Springer presents . . .

On Tuesday and Friday evenings groups of Christian laymen meet to be trained to serve the Lord in various aspects of Christian service. This branch of Moody Bible Institute, the Evening School, is directed by Mr. Gene A. Getz. Having grown considerably since its inauguration in 1903, the Evening School today has an average enrollment of 800 students per semester.

The curriculum offers two courses: The Basic Bible Course and the General Evening Course. Both of these courses include studies in the fields of Bible, theology, sacred music, missions, Christian education, and languages and speech.

Evening School Echoes, a biweekly paper published for evening school students, gives additional information to the prospective Christian worker.

Moody Evening School still holds true to its original purpose: "training lay workers, who would, though active in secular work during the day, become more effective workers in the churches and in Christian service."

. . . instruction to Evening School students.

Continuing Collegians JUNIORS

As desk man, there is opportunity for observation and contemplation.

CLASS OFFICERS: Nancy Hodge, Recording Secretary; Jan Gustafson, Corresponding Secretary; Galen Call, President; Dennis Archer, Treasurer; Tom Rutter, Vice President.

Through the activities of the school year, the class officers of the Junior Class sought primarily to promote class unity in the deeper sense of realizing a brotherhood in Christ. Involvement of all juniors in class affairs was the officers' secondary objective. It was furthered mainly by the production of the Junior-Senior Banquet, the largest and most exacting activity of the year. The life of Jim Elliot was presented, providing an evening of challenge for the upper-classmen.

Class socials, planned to utilize the talents of as many juniors as possible, furnished a means toward this total involvement. Inaugurated this year was the idea of fewer, yet more attractive socials. Weekly prayer meetings promoted concern for the class's effectiveness.

Reaching for spiritual unity as a class and active involvement as individuals created a sense of expectation for the class of 1966 as they approached their last year at Moody Bible Institute.

Developing New Horizons

OFFICERS: Alva Nestor, president; Sharon Kincaid, secretary-treasurer; Herbert Schrader, vice-president.

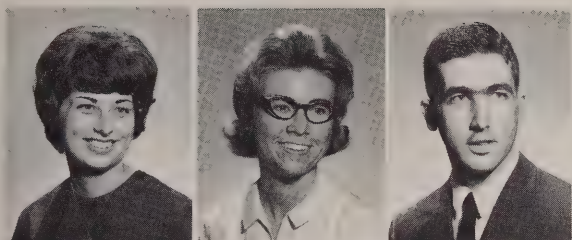

SOPHOMORES

In the early fall, the members of the freshman class arrived at Moody Bible Institute to begin an educational experience which would aid in training and preparing them for their future. These students came from many states and foreign countries. They were drawn into the busy schedule of studies, assignments, and activities and began to establish a place for themselves in the life of the school, proving themselves in the athletic field by winning Sports Night.

Second semester changed the status of this class, making it the sophomore class. New officers were elected with the hope that this class might continue to grow together and to make an impact for Christ. Out of a concern for the spiritual life of the class and a belief in the power of prayer, a class prayer meeting was begun on Thursday nights. The many demands and lessons of this first year furthered a maturing process in the members of the sophomore class.

Spring Additions

January brought in the New Year along with a new class to Moody Bible Institute. This freshman class fills the vacancies left by the graduating or non-returning students.

New women students were welcomed by the Big Sister-Little Sister Tea, giving them an opportunity to meet their deans, housemothers and classmates. New men students entered immediately into activities by being included in the plans for the Men's Open House.

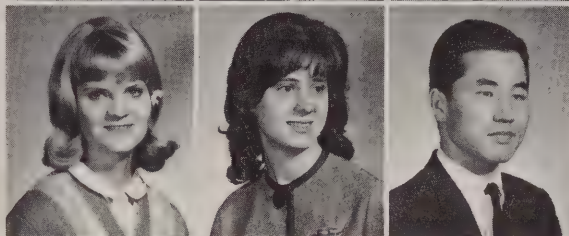

Although they have the slight disadvantage of being a smaller class than those that start in September, the freshmen do have the advantage of starting their first semester with Founder's Week.

ASSOCIATIONS

Association with the inexhaustible distinctives of human personalities provides a valuable learning experience. At Moody Bible Institute, student associations have many facets of significance:

experience, achievement, service, and expression. The two-fold connotation that is intrinsic within these affiliations is responsibility and opportunity.

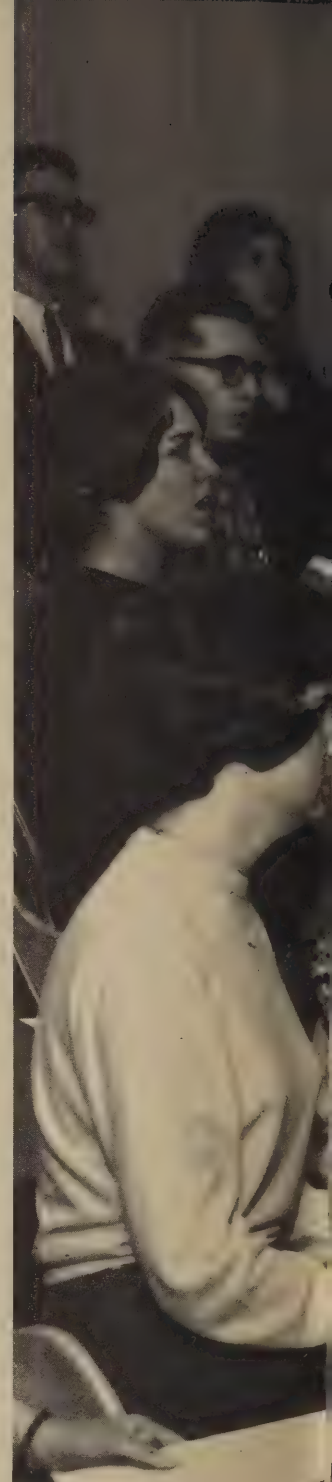

Involvement in the intricacies of student government yields experience in human relations. Through discussion of issues rather than personalities, through the accomplishment of ideals and goals instead of prejudiced whim and desire, and through the communication of facts instead of opinion, the art of reflective thinking is developed.

Student publications provide both the opportunity and responsibility for accurate verbal and visual expression. The ability to communicate with discretion and directness is a literary gem to be cut and polished by many hours of patient effort under pressured deadliness.

Concentrated attention to the details of music make rehearsals rigorous, but the ripened fruit of perfected music lends confidence to the performance.

Various organizations offer friendship and participation in predominantly common interests. Backgrounds of linguistic study serve as the foundation for the Spanish and French Clubs. The activities of Missionary Union especially appeal to the missionary-minded. Common concern for future vocations results in the Christian Education Club, Radio Club, and other specialized organizations.

Three years of active participation in student associations can assist the fruition of potential, the development of basic skills, the contribution of background experience, and the creation of enduring friendships.

Profiles in Leadership Leadership Conference

Annually Joint Student Council sponsors a Leadership Conference. This year's conference, Profiles in Leadership, was held on March 19 and 20. Mr. Gene Getz, faculty member and director of Evening School, opened the sessions on Friday evening with a presentation of the psychology of leadership. He was followed by a film on Sir Winston Churchill, a contemporary personality of leadership.

Second floor lounge of Houghton Hall was the scene of the opening session on Saturday morning. Coffee and donuts were served; and Mr. Richard Mohline, dean of men, spoke on the protocol of leadership. Ten campus leaders formed a panel for the second session in Alumni Auditorium, discussing current problems and opportunities of leadership offered on MBT's campus.

Next the group moved to Fitzwater Hall, dividing into four seminars. They were journalism with Mr. Philip Landrum, Christian education with Dr. Stanley Bristol, pastorate with Dr. Malcolm Cronk, and secular professions with Dr. David Busby. Various members of the Council, under the direction of Ben Pike, presented a live demonstration on parliamentary procedure.

After a buffet dinner in the Sweet Shop, the last session was introduced by a musical program consisting of a trumpet trio, a solo, and ensemble. Mr. Philip Armstrong, secretary of Far Eastern Gospel Crusade, gave the closing address, both summarizing the conference and challenging the students to meet the opportunities now and in the future.

Gene Getz opens the Conference by discussing the psychology of leadership.

Dr. Stan Bristol speaks on Christian Education.

Dr. Malcom Cronk conducts a seminar on the pastorate.

Dr. David Busby discusses various secular professions.

Plans for the Conference are discussed in the Sweet Shop.

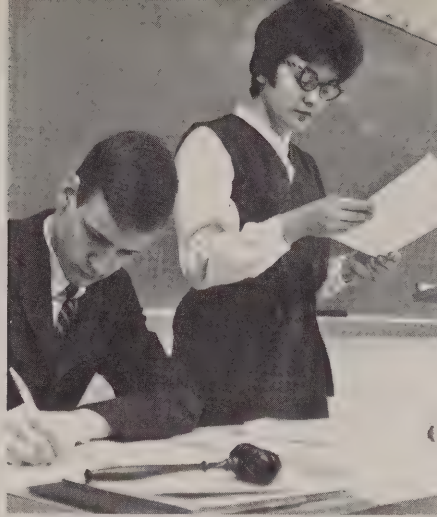

Student Council procedure of proposing motions, . . .

Joint Student Council provided another year of democratic legislation in behalf of the student body. This council sought "to serve the Lord by promoting student-administration understanding, by developing school unity through all school activities, by enhancing the process of communication of the Men's and the Women's Student Councils, by expressing the opinions of those represented, and by standing true to the principle, 'that in all things He might have the preeminence.' " President Gerry Maxey presided over the bi-weekly meetings.

Besides representing the students to the administration, the Council sponsored many activities, including State Night, a hayride, Christmas caroling, the All-School Banquet and Concert, and Talent Night. Films for Friday evening were sponsored by the film committee of Joint Student Council. With the sponsorship of Mr. Broman, Dean of Students, the Council presented to the school diversion, revision, and devotion.

President Maxey takes a vote.

Men's Student Council's purpose is to "afford an avenue for expressing student and administration opinion." It acts as a governing body for the execution of standards set by the administration for the betterment of the spiritual and social life of the men students.

Men's Student Council sponsors an Open House held in the spring. The program includes music and skits.

There are thirty-four acting members. They meet every two weeks and discuss suggestions and changes which would be pertinent to the needs of all the men students. Aiming for improvement, the changes concern activities such as social privileges and study hours.

"And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him," (Colossians 3:17) is the Council's verse. The Council has been organized to help the men students accomplish this in their lives.

OFFICERS: Bob Eger, vice president; Gerald Maxey, president; Jim Broman, treasurer; Dan Merrill, parliamentarian.

Re-evaluation and revision is one of Women's Student Council's responsibilities as the group representing Moody's women students. It re-evaluates the present rules and revises them when necessary.

The Council has two main goals. One is to represent the women students to the administration. This is accomplished by suggestions given to the senior representative on each floor, who in turn brings them before WSC for consideration. The second goal is to govern the women's dormitory. Representatives on each floor are in charge of study hours, quiet hours, keeping the floor clean, floor meetings, and similar matters.

Women's Student Council sponsors three activities during the year. One is the greeting of the new girls and the annual Big and Little Sister Tea. Another activity, which is for the cultural advancement of the girls, is "Time Out." Held two or three times a semester, it emphasizes different themes such as art, music, or other interests of students. The third event presented by the Council is Open House held in November.

The Council seeks to meet three needs of the girls: their scholastic, social, and spiritual needs.

Margaret Pent submits an idea for consideration.

One of the major school publications is the biweekly Moody Student newspaper. The paper is released on Fridays and is distributed to about one thousand Day School students and approximately eight hundred Evening School students.

This year, the Moody Student staff consisted of about forty members with two faculty advisers, Dr. C. Fred Dickason and Mr. Morris Nelson. The paper's coverage included general news of school activities, feature articles, sports, and editorials. Leith Anderson was Editor-in-Chief for the second year, while Bonnie Stone was Associate Editor and in charge of the literary branches of the paper.

The news staff covered articles that have a definite time value and the news reporters were assigned a specific beat. These beats included student government, clubs, and Institute departments. Feature staff wrote articles that had a general interest to the student body but which had little time restrictions. All interschool, interclass, and intramural sports were covered by the sports staff. Editorials were written by the Editor-in-Chief and guest writers.

Correcting proofs is one of the jobs of a class editor.

Lorraine Meland, Art-Layout Editor

Larry Stone, Editor

Presenting an appealing and realistic perspective of student life at the Institute was the responsibility and goal of the Arch editorial staff. The efforts of the layout, literary, and photography staffs were correlated to produce the result.

An inestimable number of hours was invested by artists, photographers, typists, captionists, and writers. Under the direction of Editor-in-Chief, Larry Stone, this crew was responsible for all of the activities which were necessary for meeting scheduled deadlines with a finished copy.

The reward is threefold. There is a feeling of relieved satisfaction that is derived from the meeting of deadlines. June brings the fruition of these labors in the actualization of the 1965 Arch. Finally, this finished product is entered for competitive appraisal by the Associated Collegiate Press.

ARCH BUSINESS

A marginal enterprise, the Arch annually seeks to achieve its goal of self-support. This fiscal responsibility is assigned to the Arch business staff. Following the pace of the business manager, Ted Pritchett, the Arch business staff balances accounts through the media of advertising, circulation, and the student benefit fee.

Various social activities of the Arch are planned and sponsored by the social committee, part of the business staff. Parties for the entire yearbook personnel, the annual Arch banquet, and the all-school Arch Night, when the new Arch is dedicated and distributed, are the products of this committee.

Each year the Arch cuts an Institute record featuring student body talent. Sale of these records is also handled by the business staff.

MUSIC

MR. ROBERT ILER

MR. ROBERT ILER, Assistant to the Director of the Sacred Music Department.

The choirs return from Winter Tour for a new semester.

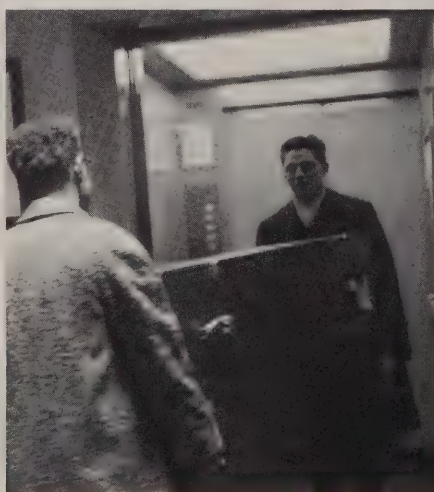

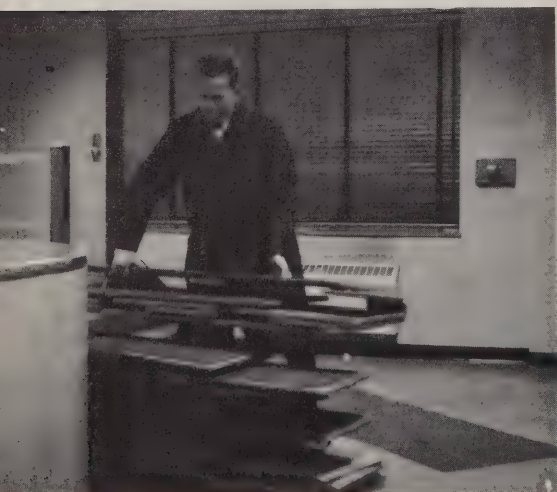

Upon return from tours, risers and other equipment must be placed in the Music Building.

Serving as Assistant to the Director of the Sacred Music Department, Mr. Robert Iler directs and oversees the various activities sponsored by this department. His office is responsible for the promotion and coordination of such musical activities as the Guest Artist Concert, Candlelight Carols, the Messiah, the Commencement Concert, the Oratorio Spring Concert, and the various faculty and student recitals.

In preparation for these concerts, Mr. Iler must have programs printed, enlist ushers, and take charge of all correspondence which comes into the Music Department. Mr. Iler also oversees the employment of part time help in the Music Building.

One of the primary responsibilities of this department is the promotion of the winter and spring tours of the Moody Chorale, the Women's Glee Club, and the Men's Glee Club. Details such as geographic location, local churches, transportation, lodging, and meal accommodations are handled by Mr. Iler. By supervising these and other matters, Mr. Iler's office makes it possible for the tours to function in an organized fashion.

Senior Darrel Heide arrives from "the best tour of my three years."

December 13, 1964 marked the fifteenth annual presentation of Handel's Messiah by the Oratorio Chorus. Two aims of this presentation, as stated by the director, Robert Carbaugh, are community evangelism and student training, which coincide with the aims of the Moody Bible Institute. The Gospel was presented many times during the two hour program, such as in the musical version of the text, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain, and hath redeemed us to God by His blood."

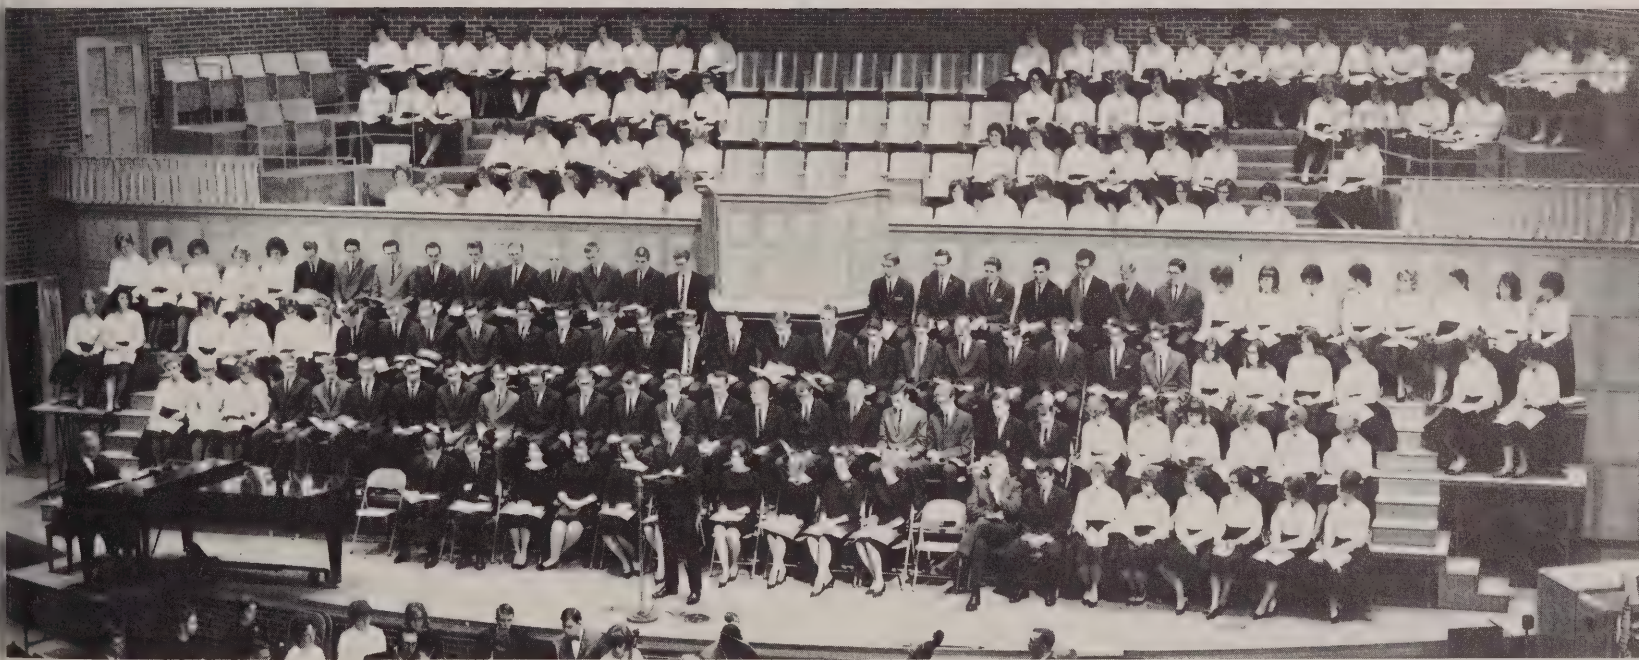

All the students enrolled in Oratorio Chorus spent many hours in preparing this presentation which included 13 soloists. The Oratorio Chorus is composed of all music majors and other interested students.

In addition to the Messiah, Oratorio Chorus provided sacred choir selections for the Founder's Week Conference in February. During the Spring semester the Chorus sang Temptations of Christ by E. H. Thiman and Christ Lay In Death's Dark Prison by J. S. Bach as their final presentation of the school year.

"Mr. A" plays a starting chord for the Chorale

Moody Chorale began in 1946 when James Davies organized the first Chorale. But for the 1964-65 Chorale, the starting place was Cedar Lake, Indiana at the fall retreat. The members, new and old, selected as their annual Chorale verse: "Being enriched in every thing to all bountifulness, which causeth through us thanksgiving to God." (II Corinthian 9:11)

The fall retreat was only a preview of what was ahead for the Moody Chorale in the 1964-65 season. In October they sang a sacred service in a student assembly. December brought the annual Christmas program, Candlelight Carols. During the second semester nearly every Sunday evening found the Chorale singing concerts in the Chicago area.

Semester break in January provided enough time for a speedy tour through Iowa, Missouri, and Illinois. The highlight of the year for many came in April, as the Chorale traveled via train en route to California, stopping along the way for concerts in New Mexico and Utah.

One arrangement of the Chorale which has received favorable comments from many of its audiences is a medley of hymns, gospel songs, and choruses featuring the work of former students and Moody instructors. Also molded into the concert programs were various selections from smaller vocal and instrumental groups within the choir.

Sounds of Strength

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

"That men may come to know and adore Thee, Lord, For Thee we sing" blend voices in the theme song at the beginning of each concert. Composed of approximately forty songsters, Men's Glee Club functions as one of the choral groups at the Institute. At least three hours each week are spent in preparation for concerts and programs.

Fall retreat began the 1964-65 Glee Club's year. They presented student assemblies, participated in such performances as Handel's Messiah and Candlelight Carols, and during second semester gave several concerts in the Chicago area.

Semester break in January found the Glee Club traveling through the states of Wisconsin and Minnesota. Sunny Florida was the scene of the eighteen-day tour in which concerts were presented in many states en route.

Dressed in dark tuxedos at the beginning of a concert, the choir usually switched to white dinner jackets for their last numbers.

Men's Glee Club waits for the annual performance of Candlelight Carols to begin.

On tours from Michigan to Toronto and then east from Norfolk, Virginia to Long Island, the Women's Glee Club proclaimed their message. Under the direction of Mr. Carbaugh, the girls had the opportunity of expressing through song what the Lord has done.

Unity of spirit among the group was a key to their organization. Officers worked together, running the mechanics of the Club. The girls strived to live together, work together, and fellowship together.

An added feature of the Women's Glee Club is the handbell choir. An accomplishment quite unusual for such a group is that all their music is memorized. Using an extra set of handbells, the group, for the first time, presented their echo bell choir at Candlelight Carols.

Brass Choir offered students the opportunity to use their talents in playing instruments. This small ensemble, under the direction of Mr. Kerchal Armstrong, was open to all students by audition. Performances by the Choir included Candlelight Carols, programs in assemblies, recitals in repertoire and ensemble, and a Sunday afternoon musical concluding Founder's Week.

A group having the same director and closely connected with the Brass Choir was the Moody Community Orchestra. Open to those of the community, as well as to the student body, its exclusive responsibility was to play for the presentation of the Messiah. Working together, the Brass Choir and Orchestra performed one special concert each semester.

Brass Choir and Orchestra were instrumental in broadening the musical background of each member. Students were instructed in the interpretation and expression of various types of music and student directing became a valued part of the training.

ORGAN GUILD

M.B.I.'s student chapter of the American Guild of Organists continued this year to promote its purposes in an effort to advance the cause of worthy sacred music and to increase the church musicians' appreciation of their responsibilities and opportunities.

Regular meetings included student recitals by members of the Guild, recitals by visiting organists, and lectures of interest to Guild members. A highlight of this year's regular meetings was Karel Paukert's informal presentation in January at the four-manual organ in Torrey-Gray Auditorium. Mr. Paukert presented a recital of organ music written by composers of his native Czechoslovakia. He also demonstrated the relatively rare art of improvisation by playing a hymn tune and then performing an organ piece, based on this tune, which he composed as he played.

Areawide A.G.O. activities provided opportunity for two Institute students, Wendell Boertje and Joan Hufford, to perform at Wheaton College in a Guild student recital sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the A.G.O.

Enriching Through Music

NATIONAL CHURCH MUSIC FELLOWSHIP

1951 found a dozen representatives from several evangelical colleges and Bible institutes meeting to discuss music as it relates to the church. The National Church Music Fellowship is the result of that meeting. The endeavor of the organization is to develop a quality of church music that will bring the most powerful and permanent spiritual results. Recognizing the powerful force that music can be in the Lord's work, the fellowship strives to encourage better music in our churches through the preparation of trained consecrated leadership.

In order to more efficiently achieve the purpose of the organization, the activities this year were programmed under three divisions, each cared for by its respective committee. Each one of the three committees was responsible for emphasizing the necessity of good music in relation to that area of Christian service: Christian education, missionary and pastoral work, and sacred music itself.

Decisions are made easier with the help of Mr. Armstrong.

Sunday Nite Sing doubled in attendance in this, its second year. Sponsored by WMBI, the program hosted musical personalities such as Dr. Donald Hustad, the Paleramo Brothers, Dick Anthony, Bill Pearce, the Melody Four, and the Sixteen Singing Men.

Campus Choristers, a group of sixteen selected voices from the student body, sang every Sunday night. Outside of the featured artists, all the music was done by the students.

"Marty's Mystery Tune" was new this year. Every Sunday evening Marty B. Ladner, pianist for the Sing, camouflaged the melody of a familiar hymn or gospel song. The three church groups with the highest attendance sent a delegate to the platform to guess the title of the hymn. The group guessing correctly received a gift certificate to the Moody Book Store.

Sherman Williams, director, was in charge of the format each week. Wendell Borrink and Neal Dody acted as host on alternate months. They interviewed various personalities in the audience, and welcomed the church groups.

The Campus Choristers conclude Sunday Nite Sing with "How Great Thou Art."

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION CLUB

OFFICERS: Neal Thomsen, Jerry Larson, Ellen Hutchins, Pat Starvaski.

Since education is a major facet in the program of today's evangelical churches, the Christian Education Club endeavors to inform members of newer and better methods in Christian Education. The goal of the club this year was to involve the entire student body in Christian Education. The benefits of the club include distribution of valuable booklets and materials to members and presentation of programs that greatly aid the student in preparing for Christian Education ministries.

The play And Myrrh was presented for the second time by special request. The purpose of this presentation was to illustrate how a play might be used in any church situation, regardless of the size of the church.

An addition to the program of the Christian Education Club this year concerned the formation of a general Christian Education file. The purpose of the file is to acquaint and aid the student with various areas of Christian Education. When this file is completed with material contributed by students, it will be used by faculty members and students.

Dedicated to Serve MISSIONARY UNION

Ken Glover dictates a letter to Dolly Dickinson.

"To know Christ . . . to make Him known." With this as its primary aim, Missionary Union, under the leadership of Thomas Chandler, launched into another year of striving to stimulate missionary zeal among the students. Through prayer bands they were given opportunity to support those in God's service by prayer. Weekly meetings on Friday nights were a main activity of the Union. Student Missionary Teams presented the burden of missions in word, song and demonstration to churches in the Chicago area.

Another avenue of interest afforded by M.U. was that of giving. The project of raising $5,000 towards a new transmitter for radio station WCRF in Cleveland, Ohio, an extension of the Moody Radio Network, was undertaken as one of the goals. Missionary Union also raised $10,000 for books for missionary schools and Bible institutes around the world.

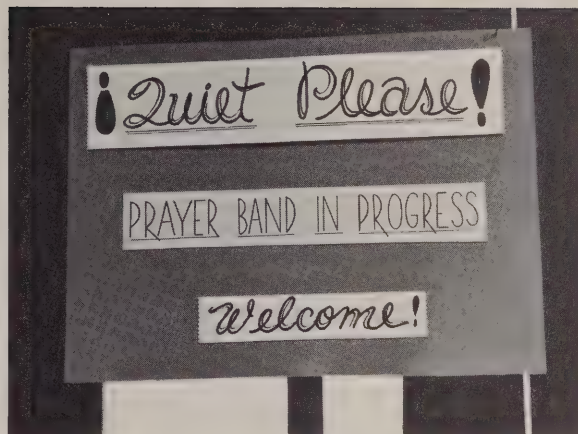

Ken and Chuck listen to the latest plans for the project.

AFRICA PRAYER BAND

The needs of the field are presented.

"Pray ye the Lord of the harvest. . . ." Missionary Prayer Bands continue to carry on an active ministry at the Institute. Ten different fields are represented by the prayer bands: Europe, Central America, South America, East Asia, South-east Asia, Middle East, India, Africa, North America, and Jewish Missions.

Each prayer band meets in the evening once a week and on Thursday mornings. Besides affording students the opportunity to pray for the vast needs around the world, prayer bands keep the burden for missions on the hearts of the students by presentation of needs currently on the field. Missionaries home from the field, correspondence with those on the field, and reports from mission boards prove effective sources of information as to the prayer needs in other lands.

Personnel in prayer bands include the prayer band leader, song leader, corresponding secretary, and pianist.

Representing The Fields

MISSIONARY TEAMS

Sent forth for one purpose: "... to make Him known," Moody's four missionary teams strove every week to challenge and inform people of the Chicago area of the mission needs of a specific field.

The teams, representing Europe, Latin America, North America, and the Muslem World, reached both young people and adults with the missionary challenge. Each team consisted of five members, each participating in the over-all program: leader or speaker, song leader, vocalist, pianist and instrumentalist, and reporter.

The team's program consisted of music, reports from the field, and message, each area of the program leading to the climax of the missionary challenge. Reports were given of specific fields, perhaps by one who had been on the field, in the form of skits, posters, or slides.

Teams have been to all types of churches, holding young peoples' meetings, evening church services, and special meetings. Teams solicited meetings by letters to area churches, by radio publicity, and by student and faculty interest.

SERVICEMEN'S CHALLENGE

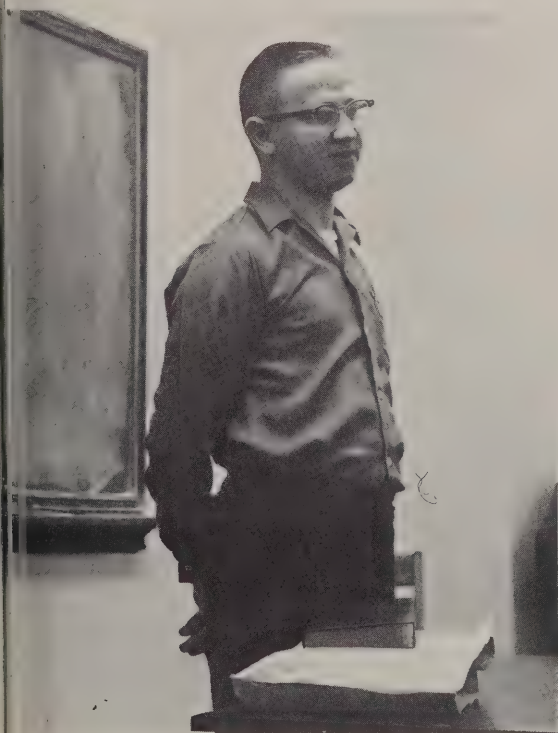

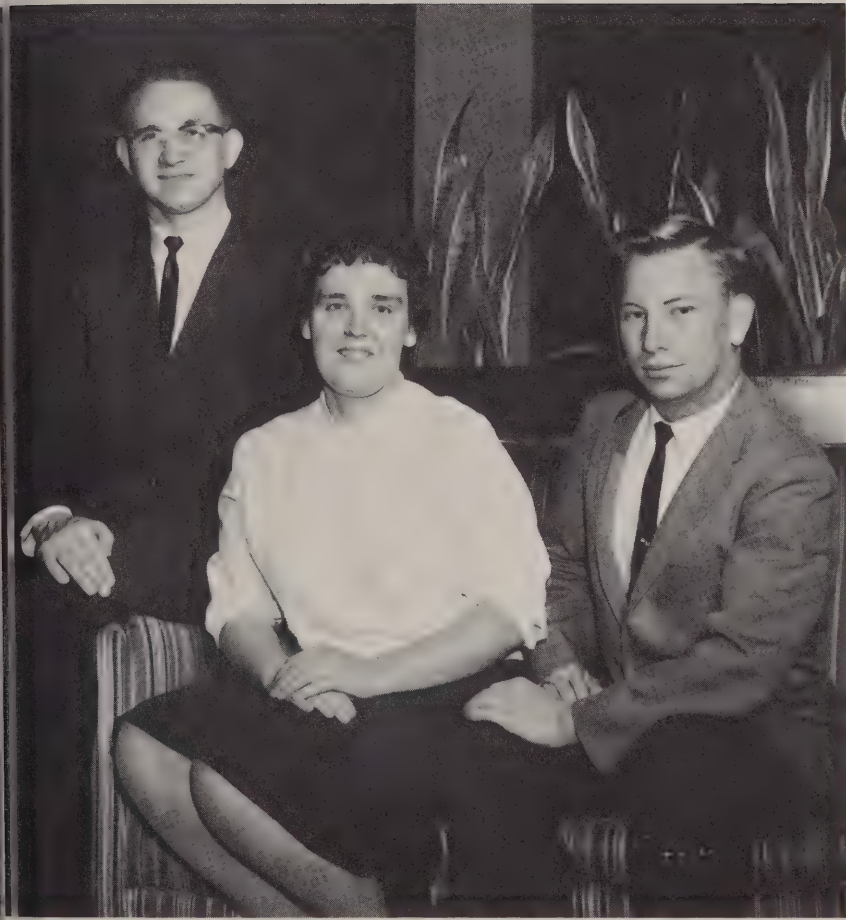

Student body awareness of the needs and potential of servicemen is the goal of a new organization which emerged from Christian Servicemen's Fellowship known as Servicemen's Challenge. Meeting weekly on Wednesday mornings to pray for the ministry of servicemen's centers across the world, Servicemen's Challenge seeks to make the ministry to servicemen a challenge to all. It presents the potential of work with servicemen, urging Christians to capitalize upon the concentration of manpower found in the armed services.

Both men and women were involved in the ministry of the Servicemen's Challenge. Officers were Joseph Wilser, president; Arnold Reynolds, vice president; and Barbara Forster, secretary. The meetings consisted of special speakers, slides, testimonies, and correspondence with servicemen's centers. The annual banquet was held in February in the Sweet Shop. A retreat was held during the semester break.

Seeking Proficiency SPANISH CLUB

Knowing a language means more than knowing words or phrases. Knowing a language involves thinking and even experiencing a completely different life and culture. The Spanish Club endeavors to present Latin American culture and customs to its members in order to better equip them for possible service with Spanish speaking people. Members of the Spanish Club consist of students who have interests in either the language or countries involved.

Travelogues of Latin American countries, films, skits, and songs in Spanish, and panel discussions aid the members to understand better the attitudes and actions of Latin American people in the United States and abroad.

Special activities included the traditional Christmas party, this year held at the home of Dr. & Mrs. David S. Gotaas. Enhancing the atmosphere of Latin American songs and games, the Gotaas' and Mrs. Luis Arias prepared various Spanish foods for the club members. Another event in the spring was a visit to a Spanish restaurant.

Interest is generated by discussing the country . . .

French Club combines fellowship, films, folksongs, and French with the enthusiasm of interested students in an effort to make French a practical language.

A traditional highlight during the Christmas season each year is caroling to French families in the Chicago area. In the past this has provided not only experience in using the language, but also has opened opportunities to witness for God. Another event this year was a progressive dinner in the fall semester. Members of the club visited Miss Needham, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Clements, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tallman for the different courses of the meal. The activities for the spring semester were terminated by a party for the members. French games, folksongs, and refreshments were included in the evening's program.

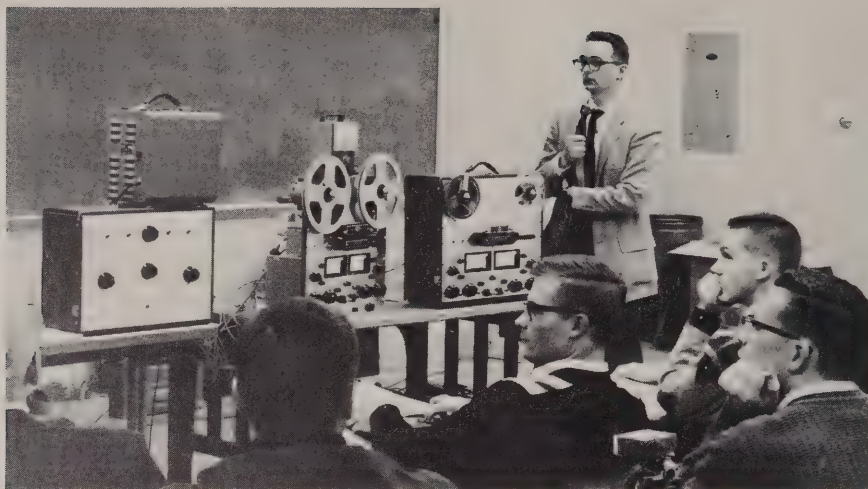

Although the French Club met only three or four times this year, a well-rounded program was provided under the guidance of Miss Needham, the club's adviser.

Those interested in any phase of radio are eligible to join the Radio Club. It is open to any student and is required of all missionary students who have a radio major.

Licensed members who have been examined by the advisers of the club have access to the Missionary Technical Department's code practice room, the ham shack, and radio stations located at the school and at Moody-Woodale Airport.

This year, the club had a presentation in slides of Mr. Austin Anderson's tour of South America. The annual field trip to the Moody Airport was held in the spring and gave the members an opportunity to view the radio station and to make use of the equipment to call various mission stations around the world.

Although the club is supervised by instructors of the Missionary Technical Department, it is an extracurricular activity.

WOMEN'S GUILD

Helping your husband through school can be enjoyable when he attends Moody Bible Institute, for wives can share in the life of the Institute. The Women's Guild provides fellowship for the married women. They also discover what the Institute is like and soon become part of the school.

This year's Guild began with a reception. Dr. Culbertson was the speaker for a Christmas Banquet given especially for the married couples.

Women's Guild offered more than fellowship. Each Tuesday, there was a time of prayer with the Guild sponsor, Mrs. Culbertson. Every Tuesday and Friday, Guild women also participated in Bible classes taught by Day School instructors, giving Evening School credit. A nursery cared for the children while their mothers were attending Guild meetings. Workshops aided the students' wives in everyday life.

Within the Guild, there was a Missionary Society that kept in contact with missionaries and former members, remembered in prayer by the women. Through the Women's Guild, married women became a part of the Moody Bible Institute.

Prayer and Service

NURSES' CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

HOLY BIBLE

Nurses' Christian Fellowship is designed to provide an opportunity for students interested in nursing to pray for missionary nurses, as well as their own witness and work. Since many of the thirty-four regular members plan to become missionary nurses, the program is planned to prepare them to be effective on the field.

Activities of the group include prayer meetings, special meetings, and participation in home missions through programs and projects. Prayer meetings of the fellowship are held twice a week: on Tuesday and Friday afternoons. Intercession is made for missionary nurses on the field and for the contacts members of the group have in their work. On the first Saturday night of each month, meetings with a special speaker are held. Also, one Sunday afternoon a month they present a program at the Missionary Workers Mission.

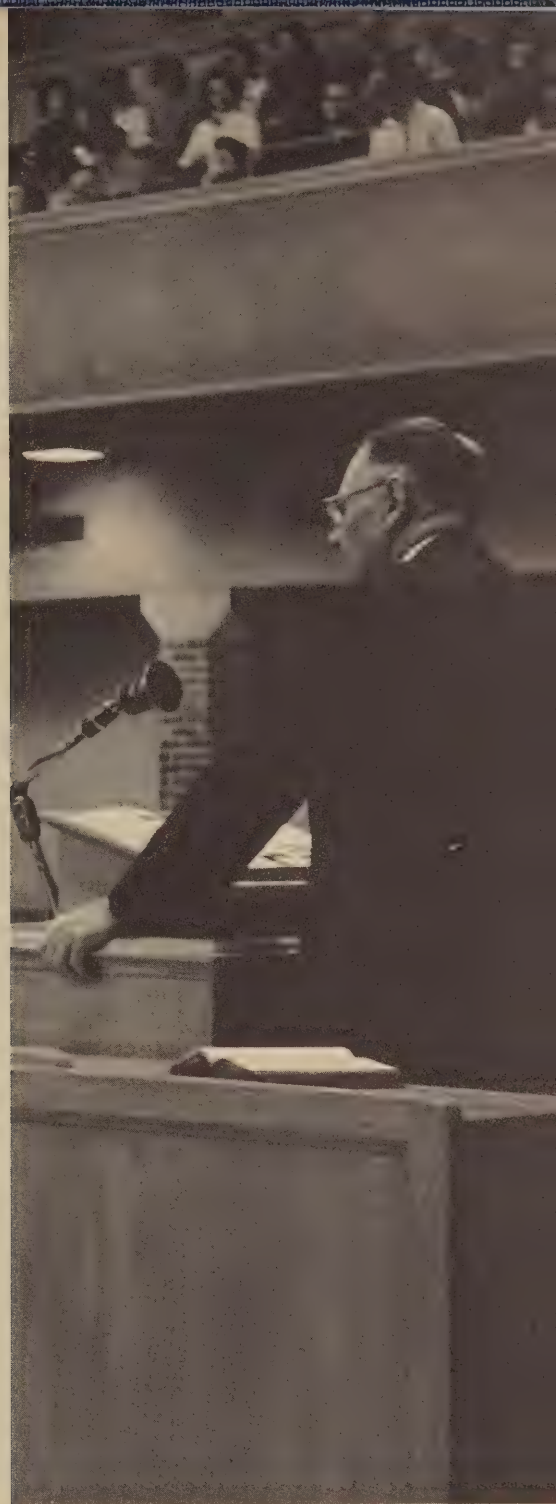

This year the Fellowship's projects have included making a Thanksgiving basket for a needy Chicago family, and giving to the work of the American Leprosy Mission.

ACTIVITIES

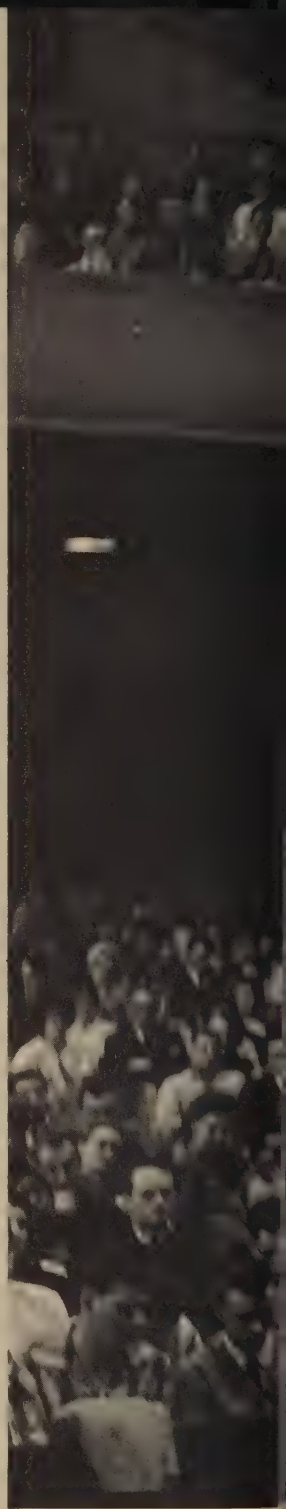

Annual activities which break up the routine of a rigid schedule are an indispensable phase of college life. At Moody Bible Institute, many find a welcome change of pace from the pressures of student life through these activities.

The All School Banquet is an atmospheric dining occasion. A concert following the dinner features two guest artists. State Night accentuates the varied patriotic flavors, both regional and national, of the student body. Through drama and music, episodes of the rich heritage of American historical development are portrayed.

Challenge is the keynote of the Missionary Conference. Mission representatives bring students into concentrated contact with contemporary missionary service as each student is faced with his own responsibility in this field. The Spring semester is introduced by Founder's Week, a week of Biblical inspiration and challenge timed to coincide with the birthday of the Institute's founder.

Annual Open Houses in the men's and women's dormitories are scintillating highlights of student activities. Rooms glow with a polished appearance that only a certain, special guest can motivate. Talent Night presents a program of varied acts in a primarily secular current as student talent is channeled into amusement that proves to be exhilarating expression.

Spring ushers in the season of banquets. Various organizational celebrations are climaxed by the Junior-Senior Banquet. To semesters of planning and preparation by the Junior Class is unveiled for the enjoyment of the honored Seniors. A formal dinner of gourmet delights is succeeded by an elaborate and original dramatic production. For many, a moonlight cruise on bewitching Lake Michigan concludes an enchanting, gala affair.

ACTIVITIES

Physically Satisfying

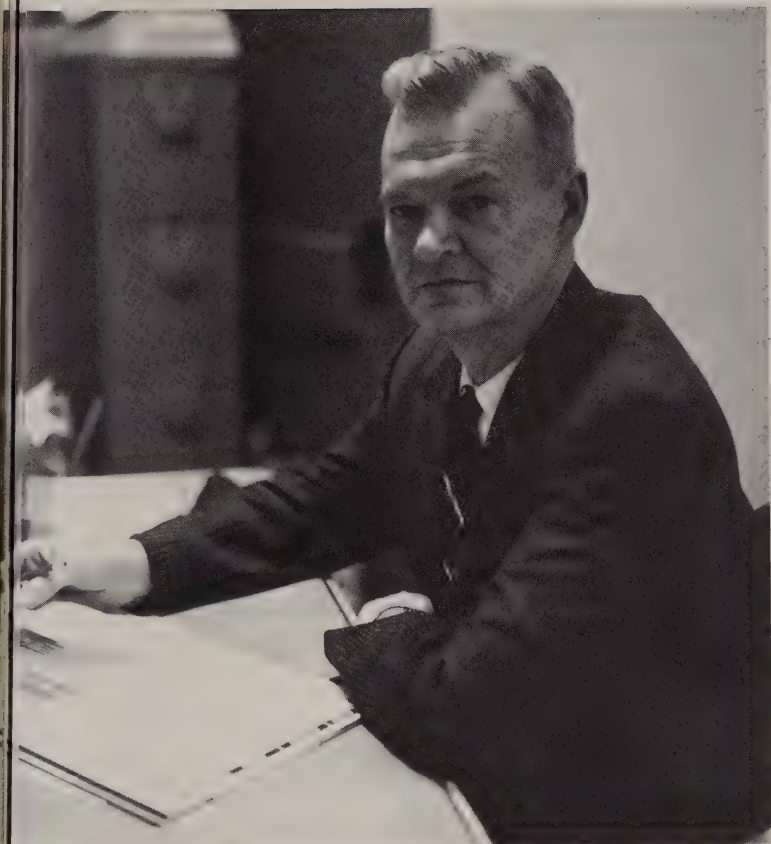

FOOD SERVICE

To please and help the student is the goal of "Pop" Mitchell, manager of the Institute's Food Service for the last seventeen years. He is responsible for the ordering, preparing, and serving of more than half a million meals in the Dining Hall each year. Food dispensed through vending machines, the Sweet Shop, and the special banquets served at the Institute are also under Food Service. Mr. Mitchell supervises a staff of twenty-one full-time employees.

From the money allocated for board, paid by each student, Mr. Mitchell must pay for the meals served in the Dining Hall. Since the Institute is a private school, no surplus food is available, and no donations are accepted. Therefore "Pop" must search the market for good food at as low prices as possible. One of Mr. Mitchell's aims is to provide variety and flexibility in the menus which he plans. He accomplishes this largely by testing products that have not yet appeared on the popular market. In this way the latest and best products are used.

"Pop's" main concern in all areas of his work is accommodating the students. He has introduced many innovations in the Food Service's work such as breakfasts served cafeteria style, baked goods made here daily, and a greater variety of food on the menu.

STATE NIGHT

"Taking for granted the freedom so earnestly fought for and sought by these who stand before you," is the charge." In an attempt to evoke some sense of patriotism from A.J. (Average Joe), his Guardian Angel took it upon himself to review American history for A.J.

Beginning with Columbus, the Pilgrims, and the taming of the West, the angel showed A.J. that the freedom he enjoyed was not something to be taken lightly. The conflict of the Civil War was presented as it turned North against South and brother against sister. The angel showed that captains such as Abraham Lincoln have had to die in giving this nation its liberty.

State Night was different this year in that there was no competition between sections of the country, but rather the skits representing the different sections were integrated into one plot with one overall theme—"Captain, My Captain!"

Following tradition, the dining hall was decorated on a patriotic theme, and a special meal was served. The seating in the dining hall was arranged according to states. During the meal a male quartet moved from section to section, singing appropriate songs.

During the evening meal, an interstate quartet serenades the diners.

The dinner was served at 5:30, the evening of November 14, in the Institute dining room. Following the banquet the annual Guest Artist Concert was presented in Torrey-Gray Auditorium. Bass-baritone Robert Hale, 1962 "Singer of the Year" of the National Association of Teachers of Singing, and pianist Richard Boldrey, former accompanist for the Robert Shaw Chorale, presented the concert.

In his first appearance Mr. Hale lent his deep voice to numbers by Handel, Bach, Schubert, Brahms, and Ponchielli. He later sang several Negro spirituals and sacred songs.

Mr. Boldrey in his first appearance played works by Scarlatti, Liszt, and Barber; for his final section he performed three selections of Chopin.

Following the concert the audience greeted the artists at a reception in Campus Corner.

Class Competition SPORTS NIGHT

A student rounds the turn in the relay race.

Held for the first time in Wheaton College's Centennial Gymnasium, Fall Sports Night provided an outlet for tensions, an opportunity for physical exercise, and a time of class unity and spirit.

After a late start because of an early snowstorm, and the bus ride, the evening in Wheaton began with the traditional warm-up cheers and music from pep bands. The senior, junior, and freshman cheerleaders led their classes in carefully rehearsed cheers. Waving banners and balloons, the red, blue, and green sections tried to outshout each other.

With points accumulated from previous football and table-tennis games, the classes started with a freshman-junior tie, and the seniors close behind. The juniors took the first two events, only to see their points matched, then surpassed by the hard-fighting seniors. The volleyball games and tugs-of-war gave the senior class a good lead. However, the freshmen rebounded, compiling points steadily in the relay races until they reached a tie with the seniors.

The final event, a senior-freshman wrestling match, broke the tie and gave the freshmen their victory, 42 to 39.

TALENT NIGHT

From the plight of Lasca, to the unique historical sketches of Moody Through the Ages, Talent Night exhibited quality in quantity. The performances were divided into four categories: vocal, instrumental, oratorical and dramatic. Steak dinners were awarded as first prize in each division based upon decisions by five judges from the faculty.

The vocal division presented numbers from The Nightingale by Margaret Pent, through Jealousy by Laurel Patterson and Eileen and Naomi Zahlout, to Oh How I Love Him by Fred Jones. Tumbleweed by Dan Elyea on the harmonica, a clarinet duet and a trumpet trio competed in the instrumental division.

Orations were highlighted by Robert Petersen's rendition of Rehoboam Checked in Today and Lasca by Minnie Henry. Thanks to Shirley Peterson no one will forget how to recite Mary Had a Little Lamb. Interwoven with comments by emcees Peggy Baker and Jim Powell, Joint Student Council provided an evening of variety in Talent Night, 1965.

Enchanted Evening

WOMEN'S OPEN HOUSE

Marlene Burden's room provides the atmosphere for an informal welcome.

Rush! Clean! Bake! Decorate! These words characterized the women students as they prepared for Open House. Decorations in the first floor lobby introduced visitors to the theme, "Through the Year."

The floors decorated their halls and doors around consecutive months of the year. Second floor began with the month of January, decorating in accordance with the New Year. Both the fifth floor and the tenth floor developed themes of "Around the World." For April, fifth floor presented Easter bunnies dressed in costumes from different lands. Tenth floor concluded the year with Christmas in many lands.

A program, presented twice during the evening in the second floor lounge, depicted the Open House theme. The women presented songs and poems portraying the four seasons of the year. During the songs, girls dressed appropriately for the seasons walked through the lounge.

Baking preparations provided cupcakes served in the second floor lounge. Women's Student Council provided punch to complement the cupcakes for the guests.

Many girls request a record of their visitors.

Men living in Smith Hall, Norton Hall, Huston Row, and the 835 Building and married couples from Ransom and Osborn Halls held Open House January 30, 1965. The men publicized the evening with posters throughout the school, inviting the women students to come. Smith 5 advertized its outer space theme with "No 'Miss'ile want to miss Smith 5." Charlie Brown's dog, Snoopy, advertized the dog house on Smith 7.

Each floor of the dormitories was decorated according to an individual theme. On some floors the theme was also presented through a program in the lounge. The "inmates of 835" presented a program including a version of "The Farmer's Daughter," banjo music, and magic. Smith 3 gave a slide presentation in connection with its theme, "The Great Presidents of the United States," and served punch in the floor lounge.

Many men also served refreshments individually in their rooms. Women students found stereo phonographs common to many of the rooms in all of the dormitories.

Christianity in Action

PRACTICAL CHRISTIAN WORK

Practical Christian Work assignments afford students opportunities to reach the people of Chicago with the Gospel of Jesus Christ through means only available in a large city. Students go to homes, churches, hospitals, jails, and missions weekly, presenting the claims of Christ through visitation, Sunday School classes, Junior Churches, youth clubs, choirs and pulpits.

Practical Christian Work assignments give students experience in various types of ministries and allow them to apply techniques they have learned in classes.

Newly inaugurated this year was the showing of Moody Institute of Science films to inmates at the Cook County Jail. Men, before reluctant to show any interest in the Gospel, now receive it more readily through the medium of science. More students pastorate positions were open this year than ever before. These were made available to those students who qualify and show aptness in such an area.

Headed by Mr. C. Sumner Wemp and assisted by Miss Helen C. Rentschler and Mr. John Tahl, this team worked towards most profitably extending each student's ministry according to his abilities and the school's requirements for graduation. Assignments differ throughout the students' years at Moody to provide experience in many areas.

The Practical Christian Work Department trains students to reach people of all ages with the Gospel message.

A World to Win A Love to Show MISSIONARY CONFERENCE

Informal discussions bring out the personal aspect of missions.

Questions are answered at the booths in Campus Corner.

Missionaries are always ready to answer student questions.

Moody Bible Institute annually presents a Missionary Conference. This year's conference was held three days in early October when classes and lessons were dismissed. Missionaries and booths representing many major boards and fields were available for students' information. Panels, discussion groups, and general meetings provided an opportunity for heart-searching as students "waited patiently upon Him" for further guidance concerning their lives.

Even as times change, so do missionary conferences and several new concepts were initiated during this, the seventh annual conference. Panel discussions included students this year as well as the missionaries, the result of which was a greater sense of organization and worthfulness in the discussions. The discussion groups were smaller this year, thus it was possible for more of the students to participate. These sessions were also grouped by courses to bring together those of common interests.

The most noticeable change, though, was the change in attendance requirements. Previously, attendance was mandatory at all the services, but this year freedom to be absent from one session each morning and from one of the evening services lightened many of the student schedules. The previous practice of recording attendance was abandoned also in favor of the honor system.

Three students get the benefit of the experience of a mission representative.

Serious thinking was stimulated by panel discussions at the Missionary Conference.

Thousands of alumni and friends became acquainted once again with Moody Bible Institute during the 59th Founder's Week Conference. From throughout the nation many gathered to hear the Word of God taught by fifteen men. The theme chosen for this year's conference was Hebrews 1:1,2, "God . . . hath . . . spoken unto us by His Son."

Dr. William Culbertson, president of the Institute, began the week by addressing the conference. Alumni Day on Tuesday featured special activities including the alumni luncheon and supper. The Thomas S. Smith memorial trophy was presented on Tuesday evening to the Alumnus of the Year, Dr. David H. Johnson. On Wednesday evening the Moody Chorale presented a special musical program on the Institute's contribution to the gospel song. Missionary Day on Thursday featured Dr. R. A. Torrey, Jr., son of a former Institute president. Mr. Moody's 128th birthday on Friday was climaxed by an evangelistic service in the evening with Jack Wyrzten.

Four of the conference speakers were alumni of the Institute: the Reverend John E. Haggai, Dr. J. Palmer Muntz, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, and the Reverend Martin O. Wedge.

CANDLELIGHT CAROLS

"For mine eyes have seen thy salvation ..."

Mr. Armstrong uses a lighted baton to direct Candlelight Carols.

Candlelight, carols, and pageantry once again reminded those who had come from near and far of the true message of Christmas. Presented for the first time eight years ago, "Candlelight Carols" has now become one of the Institute's annual traditions.

Marching in a candlelight processional, the Women's Glee Club and Handbell Choir, the Men's Glee Club, and the Moody Chorale entered Torrey-Gray Auditorium as "O Come, All Ye Faithful" was sung. Each choir sang several numbers separately. Joining the choirs provided echo effects and varieties in songs.

A pageant of Christ's birth portrayed the Foretelling, the Nativity, the Coming of the Shepherds, and the Visit of the Wisemen. Woodwind, Brass, and Handbell Choirs presented special selections. Mingling their voices with the congregation, the student musical groups sang during the candlelight recessional.

ATHLETICS

Adequate preparation demands not only the development of intellectual and spiritual maturity, but also physical stamina. At the Moody Bible Institute, athletic facilities and programs are geared towards the completion of a well-rounded personality, without overshadowing the primary purpose of the Institute.

Introduced to the athletic program by two semesters of gym classes, all students are encouraged to participate in intramural sports. Here tensions and pressures find release in concentration on the game and the opponent. Thus, the sports program develops the individual emotionally as well as physically.

Interclass football at Lincoln Park initiates the Fall intramural program. Volleyball tournaments follow, providing daily recreation for both men and women in the Institute gym. Winter introduces men's and women's basketball tournaments to the intramural program.

Intermural sports produce the challenge of keener competition than offered merely within the Institute. Introduced this year, soccer provides a Fall intermural program. A limited but victorious schedule sparked anticipation of further development. Wrestling and basketball are offered during the Winter on an intermural level. Spring's warm relief from the blasts of winter sets the scene for intermural track. In all these areas, Moody competes with various colleges and junior colleges in the Chicago area.

Each semester the sports program is climaxed by the interclass competition of Sports Night. Through various battles, each class tries to amass the most victories, the standings based on a point system. The points won at Sports Night are combined with those from football, ping pong, and other tournaments to decide the victorious class.

ATHLETICS

With Enthusiasm

CHEERLEADERS

Noise and action characterized the spirit at Moody games. This was usually instigated and encouraged by the cheerleaders who seemed to have an unending supply.

Prospective members of the cheering squad were required to try out at the beginning of their freshman year. Those who were chosen remained through their senior year. New members were chosen by subsequent tryouts as they were needed.

Each class had a traditional color which was shown by the cheerleaders' outfits: sophomore, green; junior, blue; and senior, red.

Since Moody does not belong to a league, the activities of the cheerleaders revolved around scheduled games, intramural sports, and Sports Night.

SENIORS: Nancy Stuplich, Ann Ross, Rachel Esser, Anne Amundsen, Ruth Ann Hollinger.

JUNIORS: Mary Kalal, Carel Super, Ruth Baker, Jan Wilkinson, Dolly Dickinson.

SOPHOMORES: Penny Stout, Janice Colclasure, Sandy Schilling, Jacqueline Locke, Kathy DeBlick, Penny Manchec.

MR. MORRIS NELSON, Head Coach

Athletics at Moody presented a limited, but varied program, organized and directed by Athletic Director, Morris Nelson. He is assisted by Richard Johnson—wrestling, Ray Tallman—intramurals, and Miss Ruth Beam—women's sports.

Interschool sports consisted of basketball, track, wrestling, and soccer, while football, volleyball, basketball, ping-pong, and badminton were intramural sports.

Coach Nelson added classes in historical geography to his schedule as well as being responsible for all the men's gym classes and the overall sports program.

Wrestling is a sport to which Coach Johnson gave of his time freely. However, his first love is the piano, giving piano lessons in his private studio. He is also a licensed preacher.

Ruth Beam oversaw the women's gym classes, women's intramurals, and taught oral interpretation. The completion of a thesis will bring her a master's degree from Wheaton College. Miss Beam is also a qualified swimming instructor.

FOOTBALL

Intense competition stimulated the inter-class football games from the first muddy kick-off in a driving September rain to the last hand-off on a gray November afternoon. The strong defense of each squad held its opponent to low scores in each game.

In winning the first game, the juniors set the pattern for their championship season. Key players for the winning team were Raymond Badgero, James Ballenger, James Capps, and Donald Swanson. The key play to their success was the end sweep with strong protection from their line.

The second-place seniors were paced by the powerful running of their backs. Key players for the seniors were Gerald Maxey, Richard McDonald, Ted Pritchett, Garry Schmidt, and Verne Waldow.

The last half of the season brought the determined surge of the freshman squad. In their second game with the seniors, victory was snatched from their grasp in the last minutes. In their final game they almost defeated the league-leading juniors. Their most successful play was also the end run with the halfback employing a pass-run option. Opponents found John Fix, Gerald Scott, and Donald Smith the most dangerous freshman runners.

The low scores indicated unusual balance of the league. No team displayed an overpowering offense.

Triumphant Kickers

SOCCER

American and foreign students combined to form the Moody Bible Institute soccer team in the fall of 1964, winning both of the games on their limited schedule.

The kickers came from behind in the opener to down Trinity College 4—2. Captain Robert Horton tied the score with an early goal. A few minutes later Robert Tillotson kicked Moody into the lead. Horton and Geoffrey Ike kicked two quick goals in the third period to complete the Moody scoring.

Moody's soccer team shut out the Wheaton College Internationals 3—0. Tillotson scored two more goals in the battle and Richard McKintyre added the third. The scorers gained two assists from Ike.

Others contributing to the victories were Neal Worthington, the goalkeeper; Stan Morken and William McLagan, defensive men.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Beginning with a series of three victories, the varsity team first met defeat in its fourth game with Kendall College. The team played six different teams: Grace Seminary, Judson College, Bethany Seminary, Emmaus Bible College, Kendall College, and Trinity College "B" team.

Composed of members from every class, the team played a total of six games for the season. Busses were provided for interested students to attend the away games, and many students took advantage of the opportunity to see Moody's team in action. Most of the victories were gained by a rather wide margin, but the losses were sustained usually in closely fought games.

Fighting Fives MEN'S BASKETBALL

Men's intramural program is planned primarily for the purpose of giving the men students an opportunity to have physical exercise and divergence from the routine of study. Taking part in the competition were teams from practically every floor in Smith Hall, Norton Hall, the 835 Building, Huston Row, and the Y. Most of the floors had two teams, one in the "A" league and one in the "B" league.

As the season opened, the floor teams were paired off to battle each other in a round robin tournament. Through the course of the season each floor team played approximately twenty games. Team standings were determined on the number of "wins" and "losses" for each team.

Everyone tries to help as teammates shuffle for the ball.

Keen competition between the floor teams of Houghton Hall lent excitement to the women's intramural basketball season for 1965. At the beginning of the season, most of the excitement was among the team members who debated whether to play by men's rules or by women's rules. Previously the teams have followed regular women's college rules, but this year many of the new students, as well as some of the upperclassmen, suggested a change to men's rules. It was argued that men's rules would cut down on the number of players needed on each team and would make action in the small gym easier. Eventually, the controversy subsided and the decision was made to keep playing by women's rules.

From then on the action was transferred to the battle among the seven teams participating. Regular tournament play continued until the victors emerged.

Spirited Competition

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The women's sports program promotes individual talent, ...

... personal competition, ...

Dave Sharp serves the ball to the opposition.

During the fall months relaxation was found for the men students in intramural volleyball. Each floor of the dormitories contributed one or more teams to the competition.

Teamwork sparked the victorious pace of the defending champions, the Smith 4A squad. They continued undaunted through the 28 game season to retain their intramural volleyball crown. Over the period of the two-year championship reign, they amassed 38 consecutive victories.

Norton 4A followed in hot pursuit suffering only two losses, YA being another top contender.

A key factor in volleyball victories is the spike.

Competitive Relaxation

MEN'S VOLLEYBALL

Realistic Christianity applies to sports.

Women's intramural volleyball teams appealed to many students in the midst of studies and assignments. Playing every Tuesday evening, the nine teams from Houghton and Ransom Halls met in the gym to have fun and to release frustrations caused by studying.

The winner of the tournament, this year, was fifth floor which lost only one game. Tenth floor finished in second place, with sixth floor following for a close third.

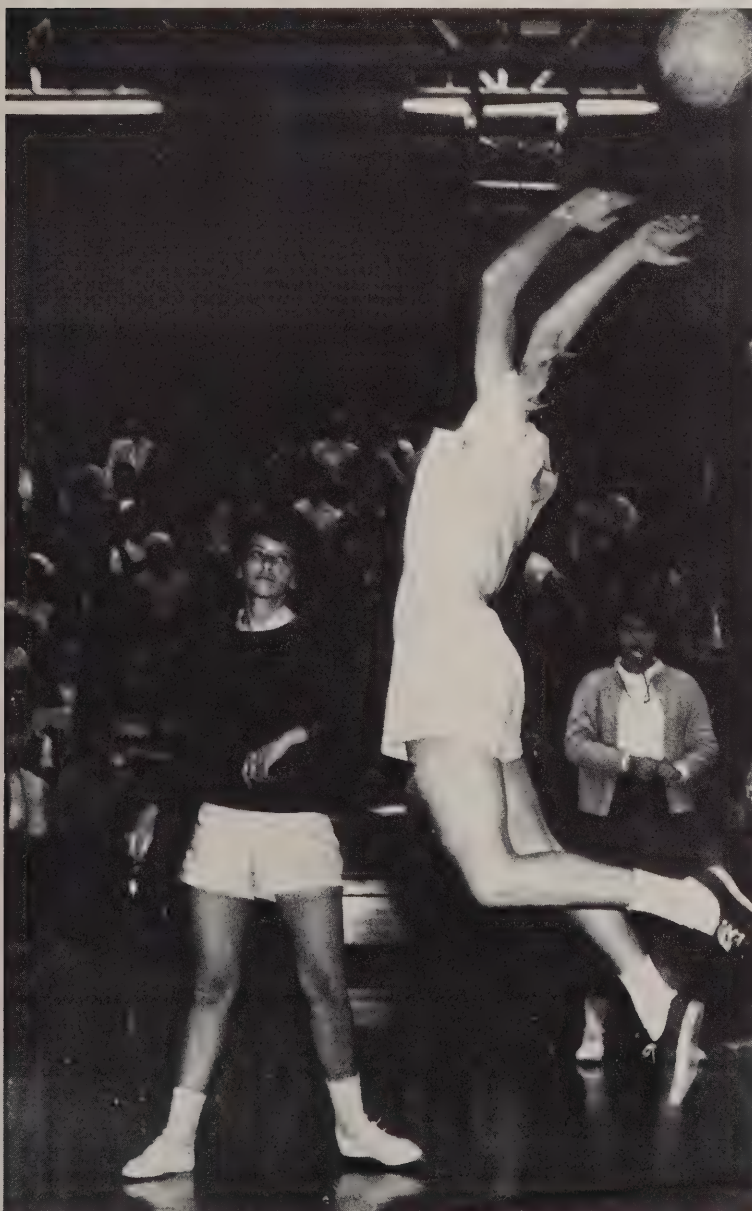

Each floor was encouraged to have twelve players on a team so that alternates could be used and each girl would not have to play in every game. Many teams elected captains. Both the participants who had played volleyball before and those who found tournament play a new experience seemed to enjoy the friendly competition.

Miss Ruth Beam, women's physical education teacher, was in charge, assisted by Joyce Roembke and a staff of referees. The games were not only enjoyed by the girls, but also by male spectators who were invited to come and cheer.

WRESTLING

Twice a week the Institute gymnasium is the scene of wrestling practice. Under the coaching of Richard Johnson, the team exerted a concentrated effort in serious work, because the members have been actively engaged in intercollegiate competition this past year.

The first five or ten minutes of each practice period is spent in calisthenics to prepare the fellows for the practice to follow. The main objective of wrestling, says Coach Johnson, is "to help fellows better understand themselves and better adjust to future life."

TRACK

A warm Saturday afternoon, the scent of green grass, a cinder track, the crack of the starter's gun, all provide the setting for a perfect outdoor track meet.

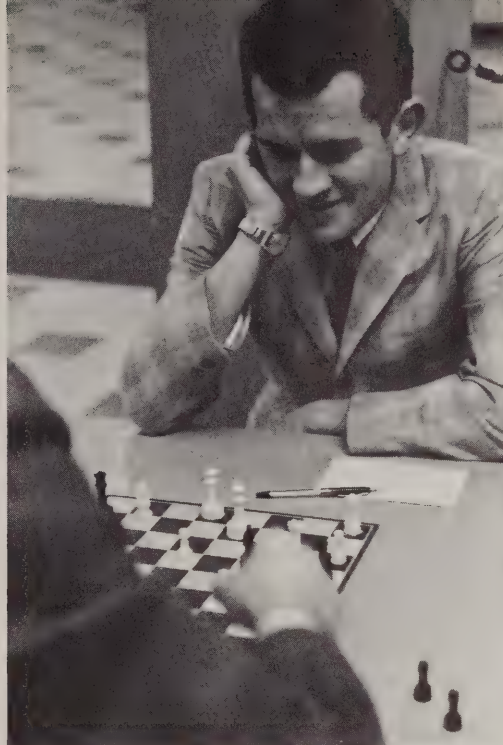

After a late start this year, interest increased, sparked primarily by the first year students. Beginning with an indoor track meet, the team moved to outdoor meets with Morton Junior College, Trinity College, and other junior colleges in the Chicago area. An invitational meet at the end of the season provided an opportunity to compete with other schools for the city junior college championship.

Early Spring practice brings Gary Havens to Northwestern's track.

Broad jumping is an integral part of the track meet.

Campus Corner is the scene of an after-dinner game of shuffleboard.

Refreshing Activities

MISCELLANEOUS SPORTS

In the midst of studies, responsibilities, and other pressures, a time of relaxation is a most welcome necessity. And each has a favorite pastime.

Located beneath Doane Memorial Building is the rifle range. In addition to competition among students, faculty, and employees, there is opportunity for individual open shooting twice weekly. Rifles are provided, but ammunition must be purchased by the individual. There is also opportunity for membership in the National Riflemen's Association through which medals and awards for marksmanship may be earned.

Other students prefer to spend their free moments frustrating the directions of a small, white ball. Ping-pong is played mostly as a personal means of diversion. Each semester, however, in connection with the class competition of Sports Night, there is a ping-pong tournament in which the best players of each class vie for the school championship and points for their class.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL

The wise graduate uses every available means to further the gospel. Moody correspondence courses are valuable tools which can be used effectively at home or in church classes. As you leave Moody think of the blessing you can bring to your local church by introducing Bible study courses for both individual and class study.

Each lesson is carefully graded by a competent examiner with one purpose in mind, to strengthen the student in the Word. There are courses on almost every subject, designed to meet the spiritual need of each individual.

Many churches today are using the Good News course to reach the unsaved people of the community. An attractive invitation card effectively promotes enrollment in this course.

Use the Moody correspondence courses to win and strengthen others and keep yourself fresh in the Word.

MOODY INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE

Of all the Institute ministries, perhaps the most dramatic and extensive is that of Moody Institute of Science, located in Los Angeles and directed by Dr. Irwin A. Moon. "Sermons from Science" films have been translated into eighteen languages and shown in almost every part of the world.

Because of their educational and spiritual value, they have been distributed through the Navy, Army and Air Force and have become a vital part of the training program for U.S. servicemen.

In areas normally closed to the Christian witness, these films have had an amazing entree, being continually shown in schools and colleges, service organizations, industries, private clubs and most recently at the New York World's Fair. Missionary and teacher training films have also been produced, as well as films dealing with the fulfillment of prophecy, children's Bible and Science adventure story films and filmstrips, and other audio-visual aids.

This is the modern tool Moody Bible Institute is making available to you, so that you can reach others for Christ.

EXTENSION STAFF

Moody Bible Institute recognizes the importance of the local church program in the life of the believer. Tomorrow you may have a vital part in your local church as a teacher, superintendent, lay leader, or even as a pastor.

The Extension Staff exists to be of service to the church. Bible teachers and evangelists are available for special meetings. Many churches arrange for a week or two of Bible conference meetings, or a "deeper life" series. Each year hundreds are brought to the Lord, and believers strengthened in the faith.

During the summer many of these speakers as well as faculty members are engaged in Bible conference work in co-operation with the local church. Churches and other Christian organizations are frequently supplied with speakers or musicians for special occasions.

When there is a need in your church, be sure to call the Church Relation's office and take advantage of their services.

MOODY MONTHLY

For the past three years you have enjoyed reading Moody Monthly. It has come to you regularly each month. But now you are leaving for other fields of service or study, and Moody Monthly will no longer be in your mailbox . . . unless you ask for it! Perhaps the following list of MM objectives will help you to realize the need for keeping this magazine coming your way.

It is designed to promote Bible study, to evangelize and to train believers for effective service. In this critical day Moody Monthly relates the Word to current events and informs the reader of tomorrow's outlook. It teaches Christians how to live and work with other Christians and non-Christians. It is a source of comfort to those who need strength spiritually.

Don't forget this valuable medium . . . keep Moody Monthly coming to your house, and recommend it to your friends.

MOODY PRESS

"Good Christian books at a price everyone can afford to pay" was the purpose of D. L. Moody when he founded the Bible Institute Colportage Association in 1894. Today that same organization . . . now known as Moody Press, is a leader in the field it pioneered. Evangelical literature of every kind is published in ever-increasing quantities. At present there are four bookstores operated by Moody Press in the Chicago area. In addition, there is the retail mail section which processes hundreds of orders each week.

Throughout the years this "ministry in print" has been used to instruct and help Christian workers, stimulate Bible study and prayer, combat false teachings, and point the way of salvation to unbelievers. No matter where you are, whether at home or on foreign shores, be sure to write for a Moody Press catalog and keep up to date with current writings. With the new facilities available in retail mail, you can be sure your request will be cared for promptly.

"It was largely through WMBI that I have come to know Christ as my personal Savior . . ." Since listening to Moody in the past year, both my husband and I have been converted" "Because of your station I came to know Christ as Saviour . . ." and hundreds of other testimonies have been received just like these.

Did you know that 25 million Americans live in the three listening areas served by Moody Bible Institute's four radio stations? A mission field at our very doorstep . . . people who do not know God . . . or enjoy the fellowship of His Son. But through MBI's radio ministry, untold numbers have heard the old, old story of Jesus and His love. They have heard it in gospel sermons . . . in sacred song . . . in Bible studies . . . in testimonies . . . in interviews . . . in dramatic sketches.

As an alumnus of Moody Bible Institute you can have a part in this missionary outreach by your prayers and gifts and by telling others to tune in . . .

MOODY LITERATURE MISSION

MLM is instrumental in the distribution of approximately ten million books, tracts and Scripture portions a year. Literature is printed in 70 languages and dialects, and is read in more than 160 countries. In the United States, thousands of tracts are being shipped for distribution among the armed forces, and other literature is given away in rural schools, prisons, hospitals, and other places where there is little or no gospel witness.

It may be that you will become a chaplain or worker in a hospital or public institution, or perhaps your area of work will be in school teaching. The mission field, whether at home or abroad, may be your lifetime work . . . wherever you are there will be a need for literature. Be sure to write MLM concerning your need whether it be printing, translating or distribution of literature . . . MLM may be able to help you reach those you seek to win for Christ.

PERSONNEL DEPARTMENT

You have just successfully completed another step in preparing to serve the King. The employee family of Moody Bible Institute is happy to congratulate you, and to have had a part in your training here. Our prayers will follow you to your field of service, just as they have been with you during these past few years.

Though seldom, or perhaps never, seen by you, our lives are dedicated to the task of operating the Institute and its many extended ministries. Our work is that of stenographer, typist, bookkeeper, radio worker, administrator, and yes, mechanic, printer, journalist, or perhaps household worker. These are all necessary to maintain this vital ministry, and we consider it a great privilege to serve Christ in this way.

Where has the Lord called you? Will you prayerfully consider joining us at Moody Bible Institute? Perhaps you have talents that you would like to discuss with the Personnel Office, and talk about the possibilities of a place of full-time Christian service here. You are always welcome.

STEWARDSHIP DEPARTMENT

At MBI, you have been privileged to study God's Word tuition-free! This has been possible through the prayers and gifts of God's people, of every denomination and from all walks of life.

As you step forward by faith into the field of your calling, we hope that you will not forget your student days at MBI . . . and that you will remember the Institute in your prayer and stewardship. In this way, you can help perpetuate the Institute's program of tuition-free training as established by D. L. Moody. Thousands of Christians, including many MBI graduates, have found it convenient to use the "Monthly for Moody" envelopes. This is one way in which you can contribute regularly to the ministries of the Institute. You will derive great satisfaction and blessing in knowing that, as you labor for the Lord, others are preparing to follow you and continue the work of spreading the gospel.

Looking for Direction?

There are many paths of service—some at home, some abroad. Choosing your path may well be the most important decision of your Christian life.

If you are not yet sure what path God would have you take, perhaps we can help you. Almost every kind of training can be used serving God in Africa today. The need is great. We will gladly inform you of the opportunities on our fields. We will send you information about our work. We will pray with you as you seek God's will.

Write for our regular publications—sent free—and for our booklet Who Should Go?, a helpful guide for all who are choosing a path of service.

Beyond the Arch exists a world—a world dwelling in the shade of sin—a world keeping time in a perpetual midnight. With you, the class of '65, goes another Arch. It is not the masonry which was the portal to your education; it is the Mason Himself who created that world. He is that Arch—the only Arch that has spanned the great gulf of sin.

Thoughts, memories, experiences, and friends will be left behind as you embark on the Great Commission, but the Arch who secured our salvation and is responsible for our unbreakable union will travel with you. May that Arch—our Arch—the Lord Jesus Christ—be your bridge to a perishing world until we see Him face to face.

Ten cents worth of ecstasy.

Green Lake provides an atmosphere for relaxation.

"Angels we BONG
 BONG on high ..."

An objective evaluation of an experience cannot, in reality, occur until after the experience has matured in one's thinking. Likewise, the value of the time spent at the Moody Bible Institute cannot be properly judged immediately after graduation.

However, in the course of time, realistic reflection will show that the value of the education at the Institute has been in direct proportion to one's use of his time in pressing "on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." A wasted three years may be spent by frittering away one's time in nonessentials. On the other hand, careful allotment of one's energies will result in a profitable education.

This principle is carried into experiences after graduation. An individual is responsible for how he spends his life. Only as one spends it constantly pressing "on toward the goal" will one realize the greatest benefit of his Moody Bible Institute education. "So then each one of us shall give account of himself to God."
